Space Flight Ready—Twelve-year-old John Daniel Currie, all dressed up in a space suit made by the grade six students at Kent Public School, appears ready for his May 11th "Mission to Mars" space flight. The exciting voyage will be undertaken at the Ontario Science Centre in Toronto. Helping the young astronaut get into the suit, which was made entirely of masking tape, are Kathleen McCulloch and Dylan Wade. Economic Development Chairperson sees no limits

By C.J. Jackson

Madoc - A committee to promote industrial economic development is being established in the Madoc area, with the acclaimed chairperson at a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, John McDonnell.

"I want to help the community and bring new business to the area," John McDonnell says he has met many committed people since coming to the Madoc area and he is on a mission to recruit people for a committee. He adds, "My mandate is to encourage new businesses in the area and relocate existing businesses. The committee will be setting up a strategy to develop industry and economic development."

John and Jean McDonnell moved to the area a year ago and with a whirlwind of activity have become quickly known for their ambitiousness as well as community spirit. They have recently set up a dual business as a Millwright and Consulting services.

Both are artistically adept, with Jean enjoying mixing her paints and creating on canvas, and John builds artistic railings.

"We love it here. We found our home." The couple barely set foot in the area before they became involved in community affairs, with John pitching in to build goal posts at the soccer field; building the footbridge to the Farmer's Market Square and contributing stainless steel rails for the Madoc SkatePark. Later, John joined the Madoc Chamber of Commerce with the intention of offering his services for the betterment of his new found community.

The couple has a tried and true ambitious never give up nature; that was put to the test after losing their jobs to downsizing and cutbacks. "We started the business in Belleville on a wing and a prayer."

"I have two industrial lots that I am hoping to start building

Summer parenting - "I'm bored"

NC — It is hard to fill every summer hour with exciting experiences for your child — and from his or her young perspective, two months is a very long time, coupled with an attention span that seems very short. The dreaded "I'm bored" troubles every parent because it indicates a waste of valuable time — and the need to do something about it.

"It is essential to keep your child's mind active during the summer months," says Dr. Donna McGhie-Richmond, educational specialist for Kumon Math and Reading Centres. "If you don't, he or she will have a harder time getting started in the new school year."

Research in this field indicates that when classes are over, children experience a learning loss of an estimated 2.4 months for reading comprehension and 2.6 months for mathematics and computation. The math loss is greater because, unlike the written word, it is not as easy to integrate math exercises into the everyday experience.

Dr. McGhie-Richmond says that you can insert a learning component into summer days by teaching your children the value of money, having them keep a daily log of bike riding kilometres, or calculating the tip on a restaurant bill. Many parents continue the year-round Kumon program, which consists of a 30-minute visit to the centre once or twice a week, plus math and/or reading exercises to do on the other days. With this minimal time commitment, your child can improve important academic skills if he or she is struggling, or it will keep hard-earned skills razor sharp if your child has done well.

Dr. McGhie-Richmond provides the following parenting tips to rescue valuable learning time:

- Arouse and encourage your child's curiosity. Present him or her with activity choices that are challenging.
- Take a look at summer programs offered by Parks and Recreation, or your community centre. Many activities are filled with a variety of learning experiences such as story times, games, sports and science experiments.
- Stock up on a variety of reading materials that focus on your child's interests such as comic books, almanacs, trade magazines and short stories. Encourage reading every day.
- Familiarize your child with the local library and develop a love of books.
- Encourage your child to keep a journal or diary of summer experiences.

Summer savings tips

(NC)—The first week of June is Environment Week and also the time thoughts turn to summer. It's a great time to take the One-Tonne Challenge and change just a few habits that will reduce your greenhouse gas emissions.

Water the lawn with care... as it uses 700 litres of water in half an hour, more than the average daily water consumption of an entire household! Pumping, treating and distributing water takes energy.

Set the air conditioner at 24°C... and raise it when you go out, or set your programmable thermostat. For each degree below 24°C, you use 3% to 5% more energy.

Keep blinds, curtains and windows closed... during the day in summer to help keep your home cooler.

Turn off the cottage water heater when you leave... and save energy. The water will heat up quickly when you return!

Take the One-Tonne Challenge... find out the total greenhouse gas emissions for your household, and ways to make easy changes to reduce your emissions by one tonne!

Bash for Cash fundraiser for Bruce Lee Hockey

By L.J. Jackson

Madoc - "It was our best one yet," Karen Bailey, one of the organizers of the Bash for Cash fundraisers, said that the Bruce Lee Hockey League which began 14 years ago, was happy with the results this year.

Harold and Karen Bailey have been committed to the fun times for youth with the Bruce Lee Hockey League for 14 years. The Bash for Cash event is one of the major fundraisers for the hockey league. Other fundraisers for the hockey league include the upcoming Fishing Derby in July.

First prize of one thousand dollars was won by Terri Bruce and Brian Cooney of Bonarlaw. Second prize of $500 was won by Jeff and Sherri Brett of Madoc. Many other prizes were awarded during the evening's fun time. The Kentucky Bluebirds, an upbeat band that has evolved since 1990 with a following of dedicated fans performed during the evening with new and old country favourites. With over 50 years of combined experience in the live entertainment field, The "Kentucky Bluebirds"... Tommy Hughes, Dean Austin and Kenn Mills, are involved with everything from fundraising & festivals and fairs, to the Ontario Club Circuit.

They were nominated by the Ontario Country Fan and Performers Assoc. in 2004.... "Best Ontario Club Band".

They carry their own state of the art sound and music equipment, and are always at the ready to entertain for any event from the simplest private party to the largest community events. After many years of dedicated work with the nucleus of the band, the "Bluebirds" have ventured out to produce and arrange their latest CD "...Got It Covered" which includes some of their favorite music as well as some obscure music that they just love to play! They have commissioned the talents of many fine area musicians including Jamie Sharpe, Terry Finn, William Hamilton, and Phil Mills to provide their fan base the ultimate in choices of 3, 4, 5, and even 6 piece entertainment that is 2nd to none!

The fan feedback is positive and their schedule continues to fill up fast.

Remembering Mom amid yellow bobbed heads

Linda Jackson

I wonder why dandelions are not sent to Mothers on Mothers Day. The dandelion is Mother's first flower, as her child smiles upwards with pride at the gathered mass of yellow headed happiness, wiping sticky hands on a pant leg. Was there a tear of joy in Mother's eyes from that simple gift?

The flowers are immediately placed in a vase, and just as quickly the yellow heads shiver from the liquid, closing their sleepy heads, but that matters little. It was a happy bouquet.

It was my Mother who showed me how to make my first necklace from the stems of the dandelion and I wore it proudly. Her gift to me and then mine to her.

When I became a Mother, it was I who was on the receiving end of yellow bouquets and my heart swelled. We made necklaces and blew the white mature heads for hours on end. We stuck the yellow bobbed heads between our toes, in our hair and covered our clothes. I don't know what we were, but it was pure happiness.

Perhaps it was not the dandelion itself, but rather the thought behind the gift, as so often is said. Perhaps the dandelion represents the purity of love and the most rewarding gift of self and time spent together.

It is the dandelion, not the rose that brings back those winsome memories of Mother as well as Motherhood. It is that simple yellow happiness that creates reflection of the purest sort; not expensive gifts and well trimmed flowers.

Most think of them as weeds that should be eradicated from the lawns, but I see the happy heads winking in a breeze tempting a Mother's first gift.

Everytime I pass a dandelion that connection remains, an umbilical cord of remembrance of soft smiles and tender moments of pride and love.

I hope this Mothers' Day brings the sunny happiness of Mother's first gift, the love that is meant for her alone to each Mother and with it the best gift of all - the gift of self.

Dear Editor:
 I am writing in response to the letter written by Lillian Page in your recent edition of The Shield. Lillian speaks of the "time of year" when we think of income tax, GST, PST, and property taxes and she wonders what's happened to CAFTA since last December. Property taxes and increasing assessments like other types of taxes are always a concern for Ontario's taxpayers. Unfortunately, we as Canadians really only pay attention to these items when it is time to pay. By that time we feel our taxes are too high, and we have not been paying attention, it is too late to do anything about them. During the past six months, CAFTA has continued to have many success stories like those listed below.

Nearly 100 municipalities in Ontario have responded to a resolution from the Municipality of Trent Hills (developed co-operatively with CAFTA) calling for a conference of all interested parties to develop new assessment methods.

Formal presentations have been made in several locations across the province with the most recent being Collingwood to beleaguered ratepayers with more to come.

Under CAFTA's guidance, a presentation was made to the Provincial Standing Committee of Finance and Economic Affairs reporting to the Minister of Finance, Greg Sorbara. Politicians are being made aware and they are listening.

CAFTA is on the cusp of meeting with television personalities planning to show highlight taxation problems in Ontario.

As taxpayers, all of us have a responsibility to keep a close eye on not only the assessments but also the tax rates that are applied. CAFTA continues to do this also on your behalf every day. We are very vigilant as to what is happening with the municipal, county, school board and provincial budgets. Things can get out of hand when it comes to bureaucratic spending and ill founded ideas, which have no real place in the taxpayer's world.

One of the current issues of concern to taxpayers in the Trent Hills area is the proposed hospital tax levy. None of us would disagree that it is very important to do whatever is necessary to keep our hospital running. With the province seemingly unable or unwilling to properly fund the running of our hospitals the tax levy may be one way to help cover part of the shortfall. With the current proposed levy of $41.00 the hospital can expect an extra $ 263,794.00 (based on the number of households) in revenue from this municipality.

However, patients will still continue to come from surrounding municipalities. It would only seem to be reasonable that financial support be forthcoming from the surrounding areas, especially the immediate surrounding area. The financial burden should not be born solely by the municipality of Trent Hills.

In reality, even the proposed hospital tax levy is a stop gap measure. The provincial and federal governments need to give back to the health system the 25 billion dollars that was originally taken away several years ago, not put local governments in the position where they have to levy an additional tax on local taxpayers.

In terms of positive change, CAFTA has a new eight point plan that we are pleased to share with all interested parties. Our plan clearly indicates the problems and cites solutions that would provide a more equitable method of property assessment and subsequent taxation across the province.

As a member of CAFTA, I feel very proud of the accomplishments over the past year. Government moves slowly. To change a system that is used all over Ontario is a mammoth challenge. However, we are up to it! It will take time but as a local group (begun in Campbellford) we have far exceeded our expectations so far. We pledge to continue working at our best for all ratepayers in Ontario.

With memberships now coming in from right across the province, our organization has been on the move, spreading the word even more. We will be presenting our findings and new approach in Campbellford and the immediate surrounding areas within the very near future. Plan to attend and find out how each of you can help.

Without the support of the people of Trent Hills and the surrounding municipalities, along with the support of municipal councils, CAFTA would not have been able to come as far as it has already.

We still have a long way to go; become a member; get involved; and be a part of history.

Further information may be obtained by visiting our website at www.caftacanada.ca, by sending us a letter at CAFTA P.O. Box 1210, Campbellford, ON. K0L 1L0, or by calling 705-696-2356.

Don't tax clinic doctors

(This is a copy of a letter sent to Peterborough MP Peter Adams)
Dear Mr. Adams

I am writing you to request that the Liberal Government of Canada reform income taxation of doctors. As an incentive for doctors to practice medicine in Canada, the government should abolish taxation on those who work in clinics and hospitals. It is obvious to most people that doctors don't earn any income until they are past the age of thirty, because they have accumulated approximately $500,000 in debt seeking their education. This is why the doctors want to work in the United States so they can repay their student loans, without having high income taxation.

If Canada offered an opportunity to doctors to work tax free, the need to be employed abroad would no longer be so tempting. It has been known for many years now that older doctors only wish to work 2-3 days per week because of the high taxation rates in Canada. Again, by offering the tax free working environment, this would encourage them to work longer and also abolish the need to import doctors. This tax free status would not apply to income earned from outside investments.

All of us are aware that the government would recoup up to 25 per cent of the money earned through consumption taxes. If a permanent tax exemption is not possible, then 10 years' temporary. Even if this tax free exemption was considered for the next 10 years, this could cure a short term problem. Another feasible plan would be to offer a limited tax free income to physicians, for the first five years, when they begin practicing medicine.

Please consider giving doctors working in Canadian clinics and hospitals tax exemption status on income earned, so we can find a solution as quickly as possible for this growing problem. You will only fully understand the extent of this crisis when you, yourself, or one of your family members needs a specialist or family doctor during a crisis of your own.

Sincerely
John D. Blakely

The good news is,
you can get your kids vaccinated for this kind of behaviour.

Believe it or not, your kid can die from kissing. Or sharing a bottle, a straw, even a smoke or lipstick. It's called meningitis C and sharing saliva spreads it. Basically, bacteria infect the bloodstream and the lining of the brain and spinal cord. Symptoms include headache. Fever. Fatigue. A stiff neck. Sensitivity to light. Dizziness. And a red, blotchy rash. They could lose their hearing. An arm or a leg. Worse, more than 1 in 10 who get infected die. So talk to your kid about getting their free vaccination. Clinics are being held in your community and in most schools, for 15- to 19-year-olds. Call your local public health unit for more information. Or talk to your doctor, visit: www.health.gov.on.ca, or call 1-877-234-4343, TTY 1-800-387-5559.

Southern Pine: Real Wood for Real Homes

(MS) -- As a homeowner looking to upgrade your home, you might add marble to your bath, granite to your countertops or stainless steel appliances to your kitchen. You want to upgrade with products that will give you the highest return for your money when you sell the home. Keep this in mind when adding on a deck: If you want the look and feel of real wood, Southern Pine lumber is your choice.

According to a recent study by the Hearth, Patio & Barbecue Association, the most popular planned improvement is a new patio or deck. A properly built deck adds so much to a home: It can provide a beautiful view of your backyard or garden and becomes a true outdoor extension of your lifestyle.

So why choose Southern Pine Lumber for your deck? According to the folks at SPAN, the Southern Pine Awareness Network, consumers are choosing Southern Pine Lumber for a variety of reasons:

Strength: Southern Pine is one of the strongest softwood species on the market. This durability is what makes it the perfect choice for your deck or outdoor project: You can rest assured knowing your deck will last a long time.

Beauty: The grain and color of Southern Pine lumber are unrivaled. The deep golden color accented by darker swirls around knots ... this is what real wood should look like.

Treatability: The makeup of Southern Pine allows it to accept stain deeper than most other wood species. This means the preservative is consistently distributed throughout the piece of wood, giving a clean appearance and a long-lasting product. A whopping 85 percent of all treated wood on the market is Southern Pine.

Environmental friendliness: Wood is the only renewable and sustainable building material, making it the true green choice. It is 100 percent renewable and it can be regenerated and recycled. As we continue to plant and grow trees,

A properly built deck -- especially one made of Southern Pine -- adds so much to a home. It can provide a beautiful view of your backyard or garden and becomes a true outdoor extension of your lifestyle.

America is the clear winner: Healthy trees remove carbon dioxide, produce fresh oxygen, create cozy homes for a variety of wildlife and provide the materials to create years of outdoor fun for you and your family.

Two added bonuses of using Southern Pine Lumber: Even in the heat of a Southern summer, it's safe to walk on barefoot. Southern Pine Lumber does not conduct heat like other building material options. And, with pressure washing once a year the only suggested maintenance, it virtually takes care of itself.

You can find Southern Pine Lumber at any retail lumber dealer or home improvement store. Don't be afraid of the lumber aisle; look for the clear yellow color (with a greenish tint for treated Southern Pine) and the letters "SP" or "SYP" on the grade mark.

Visit www.spanpine.com for more information on Southern Pine Lumber, project plans, environmental information and a listing of where to buy Southern Pine in your neighborhood.

Spring Cleaning 101

The weather has finally warmed, and you're ready to open the windows and enjoy the outdoors. The last thing on your mind is participating in the annual rite of passage called spring cleaning. But reconsider -- there's no better time to get your home orderly and clean. Follow this game plan and you'll be able to enjoy the spring weather after you're through cleaning.

BEFORE YOU CLEAN

First, head to the store so you have the right supplies on hand. Stick with the basics -- a few rags, a few rolls of paper towels, furniture polish and a good all-purpose glass-and-counter cleaner. Put them all in a bucket that you can carry around to every room. Also throw in some garbage bags for collecting trash.

Make sure you are ready to get down and dirty. Wear comfortable, old clothes since they may get stained. Turn off the TV and unplug your phone. The fewer distractions you have, the faster you'll finish. It's okay to pump up the music though -- the tunes will get you in the mood to make the house sparkle.

DURING THE JOB

First, open the windows so you don't inhale dust and cleaning fumes. To start cleaning, tackle one room at a time. (Wear rubber gloves so you can protect hands and nails.) Read this list:

Living room: Dust and vacuum corners, crevices and wood furniture. Vacuum carpet, furniture, lamp shades and pictures. Put away books and recycle old magazines. Remove all knickknacks, family photos and other items so that you can easily polish and dust surfaces. Take plants and their pots outside for a wash with a fine spray from your garden hose.

Bedrooms: Remove items under beds and file or throw away old papers. Wash or dry-clean curtains. Take blinds outside and rinse with the garden hose. Launder bed linens and dust ruffle. Vacuum mattresses and box springs. Flip and rotate mattresses before putting on new sheets. Polish wood furniture and dust knickknacks. Vacuum the floor/carpet and lamp shades. Clean mirrors and wipe down light fixtures and lamps.

Kitchen: Remove everything from counters and take down curtains. Keep any appliances you use daily or weekly on the kitchen counter. Anything else should be put in cabinets or cupboards. Consider stashing cookbooks you rarely use on a shelf to free up space. Clean the inside and outside of the oven, microwave, refrigerator and garbage can. Be sure to clean floors, appliances and counters with the right products. Empty out the freezer and refrigerator.

Bathroom: Clear potpourri holders, magazines and wastepaper baskets. Take down the shower curtain and liner and launder them. Then mop the floor and clean counters. Spray shower, bathtub, toilet bowl and outside of toilet bowl with appropriate cleaners. Clean mirrors, scale, light fixtures and sink. Empty and clean wastepaper basket. Vacuum everything to get rid of hard-to-remove hair. Scrub the floor.

As you clean each room, toss any clutter that you find, such as junk mail, in one garbage bag. Fill the other garbage bag with toys, dolls or other items. Remember, the faster you get it done, the sooner you can enjoy your new indoors and then the great outdoors!

Southern Pine: Real Wood for Real Homes

(MS) -- As a homeowner looking to upgrade your home, you might add marble to your bath, granite to your countertops or stainless steel appliances to your kitchen. You want to upgrade with products that will give you the highest return for your money when you sell the home. Keep this in mind when adding on a deck: If you want the look and feel of real wood, Southern Pine lumber is your choice.

According to a recent study by the Hearth, Patio & Barbecue Association, the most popular planned improvement is a new patio or deck. A properly built deck adds so much to a home: It can provide a beautiful view of your backyard or garden and becomes a true outdoor extension of your lifestyle.

Highly-touted Ambush coming to Warkworth

Warkworth—They've played as an opening act before some of the biggest country artists such as Tim McGraw, Lorie Star, Allison Krauss, Jason McCoy, Prairie Oyster and Loretta Lynn.

But as an opening act or completely on their own the Eastern Ontario-based band called Ambush ranks at the forefront of the province's best contemporary groups. Residents can judge for themselves Saturday night, May 14th when the band takes the stage at the Warkworth Arena.

Ambush has built a reputation in short order, with audiences, promoters and reviewers raving about their live performances. Blessed with uncommon talent and rampant enthusiasm, Skip Layton, Mark McDonnell and Rick Turner have been dubbed "the little band with the big sound" because of their unique ability to generate the full sound without the assistance of pre-recorded backgrounds.

Showcasing a diverse range of material every Ambush program is designed to attract immediate attention and to stimulate audience participation.

Ambush has been booked 50 weeks of the year since their debut in 1993, working international cruises, festivals, arenas and stadiums.

With two nationally charted CDs to date Ambush continues to write and record material for their much-anticipated new release. Their new album gravitates more towards classic rock than their usual country/rock mix.

One radio station music director commented, "If raw energy, sheer entertainment and great vocals are what you are looking for Ambush delivers!" Another said: "One hot band, especially for a three-piece. Whose's been snoozing? How come these guys don't have a major record deal?"

Ambush is coming to Warkworth through the efforts of the Percy Agricultural Society as a fundraiser. Doors open at 8 p.m. A licensed event, proof of age of majority is required. Tickets, $12 in advance or $15 at the door, are available at Chris' Furniture in Warkworth and Bob Mark New Holland in Campbellford. For more details call (705) 924-3943.

Broadway magic: Norwood's Joel Carmichael dipped into his song book for some of his favourite Broadway tunes during a delightful concert at the Norwood Town Hall Friday evening. Joel and Tina Holt had some show-stopping moments with songs from Oklahoma. Accompanying the performance on piano was David Saw, a Norwood native who now teaches voice and piano in Newcar Photo/Bill Freeman

Your Healthy Mind

Panic Attack

Without warning, you are overwhelmed by emotional and physical sensations that may convince you that you are about to die or collapse. These terrifying episodes include heart palpitations, choking, nausea, faintness, dizziness, chest pain and sweating. This is a panic attack. (N.B. these symptoms can also signal a stroke or heart attack.) Our concern here is with recognizing why you have panic attacks, and what to do to prevent them.

Over two million Canadians probably suffer from panic disorder. This problem typically begins in the late teens and early 20s. It can affect children. Stressful life events, anxiety in childhood, over-protective parental behaviour, and substance abuse are common among people with panic disorder. Depression may also be a factor. Even though we know our fears are irrational and illogical, we may go to extraordinary lengths to avoid situations that prompt this unwelcome reaction.

First thing is to realize that panic attacks are medical disorders. They are not a sign of weakness or self-indulgence. These disorders can be treated effectively. By getting professional help and learning more about them and how to overcome them, you will lessen their impact on your daily life. You can also take action yourself by exploring exactly what triggers them, by seeking ways to cope with the sensations, and by learning relaxation techniques to calm rising tension.

The Canadian Mental Health Association will help. Call 613-969-8874 Or visit our web site at www.hastings-cmh.ca.org

Remember the gear and leave the beer

The first time on the water should be the safest. Every year we hear excuses like "this is the first time I've had the boat in the water and I forgot the lifejackets". Before putting your boat in the water, check all safety equipment and make sure that it is in the boat and that it works. An empty fire extinguisher won't help put out a fire, nor will a flash light with dead batteries signal for help. Check all equipment!! The Ontario Provincial Police S.A.V.E. Team recommends boaters wear a life jacket or personal flotation device at all times. Once you fall into the water it may be too late.

If operating a motorized boat

after sunset and before sunrise, navigation lights are required. Check them before you go on the water to make sure they work.

The Criminal Code drinking and driving offences apply to boats. Don't mix alcohol and boating. If boaters aren't sure what equipment they need it can be found in the Safe Boating Guide, which is a free publication issued by the Dept. of Fisheries and Oceans. Keep in mind that these are the minimum requirements only. Call the Boating safety line at 1-800-267-6687 or go on line at www.ccg-gcc.ca or contact the OPP S.A.V.E. Team at 613-386-8601, we want to help.

Grandparent of year nominations open

Deadline for entry is May 18

Peterborough - Students in Norwood and around the county are being asked to submit their nominations for grandparent of the year. Sponsored by Community Care Peterborough, the annual contest gives the organization to focus attention on Senior's Month in June.

"It affords us an opportunity to celebrate and honour the people in our community who are rich in experience and knowledge," says Community Care administrative assistant Tracey Drake.

Grandparent of the Year packages have been distributed to schools across the county and city. Community Care is looking for nominations from children in grades two to six.

"By participating in this contest children are encouraged to recognize the importance of older people in their lives," says Ms. Drake.

Two awards will be presented: one for the primary level (grades two to three) and one for juniors (grades four to six). There will also be an honourable mention in each category.

Children who are not participating through their school are more than welcome to participate, Ms Drake adds.

They can submit a letter about their grandparent or a special older person in their life. This letter should outline what they think is important in the relationship, what kind of activities are done together, a happy occasion they have shared, how they feel when they are together, why they are proud of their grandparent and why they think their grandparent should receive the award.

A hand drawn picture of the student and their grandparent or special older person together should also be submitted.

All entries must be received by May 18. Entry packages can be obtained by calling 705-742-7067. Submissions can be sent to Community Care, attention: Tracey Drake, 180 Barnardo Avenue, Peterborough, K9H 5V3.

Award recipients will be announced and honoured during Seniors' month at an event hosted by Royal Gardens on June 6.

Canadian veterans return to the Netherlands

Sixty years ago the majority of Canadians still serving in Europe during the Second World War found themselves in the Netherlands where they celebrated the end of the war together. On May 1, 2005, the largest veteran delegation ever, led by the Honourable Albina Guarnieri, Minister of Veterans Affairs, returned to the Netherlands to mark the 60th anniversary of its liberation. One hundred and twenty-eight Canadian veterans and their caregivers were joined by 13 Canadian youth, one from each province and territory in Canada, as well as three representatives of the War Amps Operation Legacy program.

Attention Well Own Pine Veau Fractur

Hydro Fracturing is the process of using water under extreme pressure to break a barrier that is preventing an underground water source from flowing freely. This is not a new technology; the process has been used in oil fields 95 years. The technology is new to the water-well industry. This machine breaks the underground rock and opens up the fissures already existing in the rock.

Highly Technical Machine. The high-pressure components for our machine come directly from the oil fields. The machine produces over 6000 psi (pounds per square inch) and pumps up to 200 GPM (gallons per minute), creating an high pressure in the well. The extreme high pressure opens blocked water producing a higher output well. By fracturing an existing drilled well, we improve the flow of the well, even if the well is considered dry, or has gone many productive years. To fracture an existing well, there is no mess of dirt or cutting asphalt driveways to hook up pump in new wells. The cost of drilling a new well can be considerable, with no guarantee of increasing the GPM. To increase our success to 99%, we have developed a system called packer, where we can isolate a zone 12-20 ft. by blocking an area top and then put a pipe with holes in it between our packers. No pressure can go in between the two packers. This allows us to open up more areas in the wells called aquifers. This system can also be used in wells where an area of bad water exists. We can isolate and below where good water is found. For example, if salt or sulphur is at the bottom of a well it can be plugged up and we can fracture nearer the top where water quality is better.

Avoid Unnecessary Cost. If you have an existing well or are considering a new well...WE can save you money! In 99% of all new wells once considered that we have hydro-fractured, we have found water between 50 ft. - 300 ft.

Protect Your Investment. A piece of land, a home or a business is of no value without water. The cost of this service can be measured in more than the value...water is absolutely necessary to life itself.

Sneaker Day Events a win-win situation

Get Summeractive!

Brighton—Area residents are being encouraged to put their best foot forward in an effort to gain better health and win some prizes.

Individuals, organizations, schools, and workplaces in east Northumberland County are being challenged to get active for at least 30 minutes on Sneaker Day, which is set for next May 6th. Sneaker Day kicks off SummerActive - a nation-wide campaign that runs until June 20 and gives people a chance to win prizes just by being physically active.

"Here is a win-win opportunity to welcome summer by getting active and becoming eligible for some great prizes," says Jennifer Valcamp, a Health Promoter with Health for Life.

Health For Life wants people to start SummerActive off right by organizing a Sneaker Day event. Several groups have already signed up for the plan, including Curves for Women, the Coddington Walkers and the Brighton Provincial Wildlife Area group. Health for Life is supplying these groups with promotional items and prizes to encourage participation.

Other groups, individuals or workplaces that would like to join in the Sneaker Day excitement can find out how by contacting Valcamp at (613) 475-0933.

Sneaker Awards

Health for Life is challenging schools across the area to plan a Sneaker Day event as well. Local schools with the highest participation in the most creative activity will be presented with Golden Sneaker Awards.

Valcamp notes that Northumberland residents really embrace Sneaker Day activities. "One year, we had nearly 5,000 people in the county take part," she says. "I think the health benefits make the exercise appeal-on this year." The Millwright business at Belleville building machines has been a successful venture, that John is establishing in Madoc. This would be the hands on portion of the services business he already offers. The Millwright office and Consulting Service to help create a safer a strategic location, a productive and reliable workforce available at extremely competitive wage rates.... They add that there are natural benefits of the community such as enhanced quality of life and Moira Lake, as well as the strategic location.

"Centred at the Northern gateway, with abounding outdoor recreation opportunities, Madoc is a four season vacationland, a virtual paradise for hunters, boaters, snowmobilers and fishermen, offering to restore spirits in nature's tranquility." The Economic Development initiatives suggest also, "Your company can profit where others play, while you and your employees enjoy a second-to-none quality of life."

There are no such things as limits to growth, because there are no limits on the human capacity for intelligence, imagination and wonder."

- Ronald Reagan

"Madoc as a small community needs to move from the survival to thrive mode. The infiltration of new business to this area would allow for this transition. New business would provide employment opportunities to curb the migration of young people, as well as provide an abundant tax base which in turn would allow for better services and a better quality of life for current inhabitants." The Madoc Chamber of Commerce has taken an active role with the establishment of the economic committee.

The Chamber recognizes that, "Madoc offers the ideal setting for new business development and growth. Our assets include ond-to-none quality of life." "Change is inevitable, growth is intentional." quote: Glenda Cloud

It is recognized by the Madoc Chamber of Commerce, that changes are and will continue to happen. With the advent of the Economic Development Committee, they are actively and intentionally perpetuating growth.

Keeping Kids Safe in or Near the Water

Summer is almost here. The days are getting longer. The weather is getting warmer. And the kids are getting more and more excited as the warmer weather signals the start of those "fun" trips to the beach and pool. The kids can't wait as they pick out their new bathing suits, flip flops, water toys, and beach towels.

But parents beware! Swimming and water play can be exciting recreational opportunities for many families. But they can also be dangerous if you and your children are unaware of their potential hazards. Consider these statistics from KidsHealth, an online children's health resource, about water-related injuries in the United States.

• Drowning is the second leading cause of unintentional injury-related death (after car accidents) for children younger than 14 years. It's the number-one cause of unintentional injury-related deaths for kids ages one to four.

• Nearly 1,000 children die every year by drowning. Most drownings involving children ages one to four occur in home swimming pools. Drowning often happens quickly and quietly — there is little noise to alert parents that the child is in danger. The majority of young children who drowned were last seen in the home, were in the care of one or both parents at the time of drowning, and had been out of sight for less than five minutes.

Clearly, these statistics show why it's critically important to teach your children how to stay safe around any kind of water. Here are some water-safety guidelines that every parent should follow when their kids are in or near water, courtesy of KidsHealth.

1. Maintain constant supervision. Watch your children closely when they're in or near any water — whether the water is in a bathtub, a wading pool, an ornamental fish pond, a swimming pool, a spa, the beach, or a lake. Young children are especially vulnerable — they can drown in less than two inches of water! That means drowning can happen where you'd least expect it — the sink, the toilet bowl, fountains, buckets, inflatable pools, or small bodies of standing water around your home, such as water-filled ditches.

Don't assume that just because your child took swimming lessons or is using a flotation device such as an inner tube or inflatable raft, that he can't drown. Supervision should be constant with children no matter what their swimming skill levels are.

If you're at a pool party, it's especially easy to become distracted, so designate an adult who will be responsible for watching the children. Whether at a party or in your own home, if you leave your child with a baby-sitter, make sure he or she knows your rules for pool swimming. If you have an above-ground pool, always lock the gate around it, and remove the ladder when the pool is not in use.

2. Learn to swim. Both you and your child should know how to swim, even if your child is only four years old. Check with your local recreation center, YMCA or American Red Cross for classes taught by qualified instructors.

3. Invest in properly fitted Coast Guard-approved life vests. Children should wear them whenever they are in or near water. Check the weight and size recommendations on the label, then have your child try it on to make sure it fits snugly. For children younger than five, choose a life vest with a strap between the legs and a head support. The collar will keep the child's head up and his face out of the water. Note that inflatable vests and arm devices such as water wings are ineffective against drowning.

4. Be aware of water hazards in your neighborhood. Find out where the water hazards are in your neighborhood. Who has a pool or hot tub? Where are the ponds or creeks that may attract children? Make sure that neighbors who have pools are aware that you have a young child. Their pools should be fenced in and gates locked at all times. The National Center for Injury Prevention and Control (NCIPC) estimates that fencing could prevent 19 percent of pool-related drownings among children younger than five years of age.

5. Teach your children proper pool and spa behavior. They shouldn't run or push each other when around the pool, and they should never dive in areas that are not marked for diving. If the weather turns bad (especially if there's lightning), they should get out of the pool immediately. Let them know that they should lifeguard or an adult emergency.

6. Have access to a cell phone with you. You are watching your child, but a water play. Seconds come to your water emergency. time you save running help might be the difference between life and death! A quick-dial feature or your local emergency also save additional emergency numbers and make sure all are aware of these numbers.

7. Learn CPR and agency safety equipment and in good working order. Such as emergency vehicles and shepherds, especially important in swimming.

8. Remove pool toys from the pool for the day, be all pool toys and pool children have drowning to retrieve play the pool.

9. When at the beach, child to swim only with a lifeguard is on duty. he doesn't swim. clippings. Unlike the a swimming pool, special dangers like tides. These sudden events may cause into an accident. Lifeguard when you out about the water. Don't allow your child in large waves or tell him never to back to the water. den wave can easily over. Teach your child caught in a rip current, he should swim shore or should try for a lifeguard!

Class builds geodesic dome in just one day

By Rolly Ethier

Campbellford—Kent Public Schools' grade six students may well comprise one of the best prepared classes ever to take part in a "Mission to Mars" simulation at the Ontario Science Centre May 11th.

Through the guidance of their imaginative teacher Patrick Muldoon, nothing much has been overlooked in the ambitious approach to realism. The Kent class has studied diligently for this undertaking, going so far as to determine their basal metabolic energy expenditure so they'll know how much stamina their bodies will need during the space flight.

The class has also constructed a full-sized space suit to bring with them to the Science Centre, built a sample of a lunar surface and assembled a very impressive geodesic dome made entirely of paper and tape.

"We've also made a list of things to take with us in space, even planning menus for the week based on the consumption of calories, protein and fat," said Patrick.

The planning is developed originally through the Science Centre, which provides information and program initiatives, but Muldoon says "our Kent class has taken the concept a little further than the norm."

The class will be split into two different units—a Mission Control team and a Space Station team. They'll be in contact with each other through computers and radio links.

"Halfway through the mission the students will switch positions so each can be on a different team," Muldoon explained. "There's a data communication team, a medical team, a remote arm operating team just like you would on an actual space mission. All the kids will have jobs according to their abilities and we've been doing a lot of work in class to McCulloch and Dylan Wade in helping the young astronaut strap on his backpack life support system.

"In class, we've been looking "In class, we've been looking at the history of space flight, at support issues that would have to be resolved in an actual mission, at co-operative strategies for kids to work together and lots of math."

Part of the simulated mission includes operating robotic arms and planning navigated probes to the Moon and Mars.

"It's fantastic as to the detail the Science Centre program offers to make this experience as real as possible," notes Patrick.

Another ambitious initiative in the Kent study initiative was the creation of a space suit made entirely of rolls and rolls of masking tape, which was modelled by 12-year-old John Daniel Currie. He received help from classmates Kathleen at the history of space flight, at support issues that would have to be resolved in an actual mission, at co-operative strategies for kids to work together and lots of math," said Muldoon, who appeared almost as excited as the kids about the comprehensive project.

In addition students have charted their vital signs on the blackboard, including blood pressure, pulse rates and body temperatures, while working out averages to get a sense of how healthy they (the space travellers) will be. They'll also be monitored on the flight to

The geodesic dome was built because of the use of modular construction for space stations. It's an almost spherical structure based on a network of struts arranged on great circles. The geodesics intersect to form triangular elements that create rigidity and distribute the stress.

As Muldoon points out, "you really have to appreciate the geometry that goes into it."

The struts in the Kent version are built of tightly-rolled newspapers of the same lengths and then taped. The pyramids are covered in heavy black paper. Each one of the panels represents a constellation.

"We plan to puncture holes in the diagrams of the constellations and then put a strobe light inside the dome to project rays of light all around the walls of the classroom just like a mini planetarium," explained Muldoon. Amazingly the class completed the dome to exact specifications in just one day.

ing to many people."

For those unable to organize or take part in their own Sneaker Day activities, there is plenty of time - and chances - to be active and win.

During SummerActive from May 6 to June 20, anyone who is active, takes part in a sporting event, eats healthy, or becomes smoke-free can register their participation to become eligible to win a variety of prizes.

The SummerActive web site also lists events in which people can take part.

Research shows physical activity is important for reducing a variety of diseases, including heart disease, cancer and diabetes. Physical activity is also vital for healthy growth and development.

30 to 60 minutes a day

For these reasons, Canada's Physical Activity Guide for adults recommends accumulating 30 to 60 minutes per day of moderate physical activity such as walking. For inactive children and youth, the Guides recommend increasing physical activity time by at least 30 minutes per day and decreasing the time spent sitting still watching TV, playing computer games or surfing the Internet.

Trees Project tradition: Students from Crestwood Secondary School got some tips from Otonabee Region Conservation Authority general manager John Williams during their tree planting trek to property in Asphodel owned by Bill and Janet Duke. The grade 11 students planted 1200 red pine, white pine and white spruce in the disused corn field near the Trent River as part of the annual Trees Project run by the Conservation Authority and the Otonabee Region Conservation Foundation and their partners Scouts Canada and the Wetland Habitat Fund. In all, students from across the region planted 19,710 trees on private lands in Peterborough County. The trees were chosen to match the soil and drainage characteristics of the properties and will help to reduce soil erosion, improve air and water quality and create wildlife habitat for many different animals. Campbellford—Seymour Heritage Society met at the Centre on Monday, April 18, 2005.

President, Ann Rowe welcomed the group and proceeded with business.

Coming Events:

The summer display will be on the theme of "music" including instruments, uniforms, sheet music, etc. Donations to the display would be appreciated.

After the completion of other business, Mrs. Rowe presented a delightful program of the Music of Upper Canada. Material was taken from a program presented in Tweed for the Bicentennial of the United Empire Loyalists in 1984. In order to tell Canada's story in song the committee involved all the musical groups in the school.

Music has been an important part of every civilization throughout history. It is communication. It expresses emotion, conveys ideas and tells stories. Thus, music reflects the culture from which it comes.

Music was divided into two types, sacred and secular. The latter was also known as "folk" music, the music of the people.

The history of music in Canada begins with the music of the native people, Indians and Inuit. Native people had music for victory in battle, success in hunting, cures for the sick, burial of the dead, and changes in the weather. They used drums, rattles, whistles and flutes to accompany their vocal songs. Lullabies are much alike the world over, and Indian mothers crooned into their papooses too. The music of the natives carried on traditions thousands of years old.

Sailors Loved to Sing

By the 16th century, men from Europe were crossing the Atlantic to fish off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. The sea shanties that the sailors sang helped them work in unison, as they raised or lowered the sails and performed other heavy tasks. Despite the heavy physical labour on the sailing ships of the day, sailors were a jolly lot who loved to sing and dance. "The Sailor's Hornpipe" was a dance imitating the labours they performed.

As voyageurs paddled their canoes through uncharted territories in quest of furs, they found that singing brought rhythms to their paddling, and long hours passed more pleasantly. Father Brebeuf was a Jesuit missionary to the Huron Indians, near Midland, Ontario. Because the natives found the hymns strange and difficult, when Christmas came, he translated the Christmas story in terms the Indian understood. This was the first truly Canadian Christmas carol, "I was in the Moon of Wintertime".

Just as the French settlers brought folk songs from France, the English, who were settling the Atlantic coast, brought many songs and ballads from their homeland. e.g. "I'll Give My Love an Apple".

During the American Revolution, many songs were brought to Canada by the United Empire Loyalists, who wanted to stay under the British flag. "The British Grenadiers" would have been on of those songs.

The Scots who settled Cape Breton, Glengarry and Cornwall brought with them the customs and songs of their homeland. They also brought the bagpipes and fiddles, which were used to accompany dancing. Singing was usually unaccompanied such as the favourite "Loch Lomond".

Throughout the 19th century, many Irish people immigrated to Canada. In 1825, a number of Irish families arrived in Peterborough and Larnark. They also settled in areas around Tweed and Marmora. The later years, the failure of the potato crop in Ireland brought thousands of immigrants to our shores. They brought with them traditional folk songs reflecting their love for their native land, e.g. "Cockles and Mussels" and "The Farmer's Curst Wife". The Irish showed their happy side of the jigs and dances they performed to such tunes as "The Irish Washer Woman" or the "Rustic Jig".

By the early 1800's the hostility between the British colonies and the United States showed a need to unite the British settlements for defense. Many songs were written in this period depicting events in Canadian history. "Brave Wolfe", "The Prescott Volunteers" and "Come all you Brave Canadians", praising Sir Isaac Brock for the surrender of Fort Detroit in 1812.

A song written in the year of Confederation is still with us today. "The Maple Leaf Forever", written by a young Scottish school teacher, Alexander Muir of Scarborough. It was sung by Canadian soldiers at the time of the Boer War. Though it was popular with English speaking Canadians, the song adopted for the nation anthem "O Canada" was written in 1880 to express the aspirations of all Canadians.

From Autumn to Spring, lumberjacks or shanty boys lived in isolated camps in the woods. To amuse themselves during the long winter nights, they told stories and sang songs of the dangerous life of a lumberjack. "The Frozen Logger" was an example.

Marmora Iron Mine

Another valuable resource was found in the rocks of the Canadian Shield. One of the earliest mining ventures was the iron mine at Marmora; worked from the 1820's up to recent times. Several Ontario villages grew up as a result of particular mineral resources. They too had their ballad and songs of hardship and disappointment.

The pioneers of Canada tried to preserve the social customs and folklore of their native land. Men sang as they swung their axes to clear the land. Women sang as they washed their clothes, or spun. Mothers sang to babies in their cradles. Children sang as they played. Most of the songs were not written down at that time, and so they were passed from person to person, the songs changed over time.

Religion had an important place in colonial life. The choir leader set the key with a tuning fork and led in the hymns which were learned by rote. A lovely Shaker hymn was called "Simple Things".

Ann made her presentation more interesting by playing recordings of many of the songs, hymns and jigs for our entertainment.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 Monday night May 16. Guest speaker will be Andrea Montgomery who will share her expertise in Archiving and Scrap Booking.

Outdoor pet safety

Spring fever hits more than just people! When the warm weather starts to put a spring in your step, it will do the same for your pets, so there are a few things to be more cautious about than usual. Pets may be more likely to wander and get into various types of trouble when winter wears off. It is very important to be aware of any areas where water is thawing; lakes, rivers and swimming pools pose particular hazards. Animals can be victims of fast running water, and hypothermia from newly thawed water just as people can. Along with the spring thaw comes the growth of many spring plants which can be dangerous for pets. Daffodils are quite toxic to dogs and cats. Small amounts can cause serious problems, so watch your pets when they are out "helping" you garden! Areas such as ours that get a large influx of people in the summer months who are enjoying vacations, are also more likely to have more than our share of tragedies. It is of the utmost importance that pets are monitored closely while outside near traffic. It is devastating for everyone to see a beautiful animal, previously so full of life, meet a horrible end because preventive measures weren't taken. Leashes should be used whenever an animal is near traffic, and drivers should always be aware of what's happening around them, as well as driving at recommended speeds. Be cautious, but have a wonderful time this summer in the great outdoors!

Tales of poetic song still sing from across the centuries

By L.J. Jackson

Madoc - It is 1394. Twenty nine pilgrims arrived at the Tabard Inn in Southwark to prepare for a departure to Canterbury. The tales by Geoffrey in poetic song still canter across the centuries with universal themes of love, humour and melancholy in strange exotic words.

"We want to awaken the reactions of the audience and keeping up with their energy will be a challenge..." On June 1st and 2nd, senior drama students at Centre Hastings Secondary School will present a PG version of Canterbury Tales. Tickets are available at the school office.

"Tickets will be available at the office or at the door." Stage director, Meryl Rosenplot said that, twenty seven students have been practicing for the the upcoming play in front of an audience since March, working hard and "getting into the heads" of their characters, as well as the High Middle Ages when jousting and dance drew throngs of clapping.

"It has been tuned down to be appropriate for school and general audience." With the rather naughty and risqué poetic rhythm and verse of Geoffrey Chaucer, Senior Drama Teacher, Pat Wood said that a PG rated version was necessary, but she agreed with the actors that, "it is actually funnier that way."

"She'd had five husbands, all at the church door..."

"He could make songs and poems and recite.

Knew how to joust and dance, to draw and write.

He loved so hotly that till dawn grew pale

He slept as little as a nightingale."

"The subtlety adds to the comedy," many of the twenty-seven students involved in the jousting verse agreed that "toning down" Chaucer's verse will only add to the appeal, as well as challenging the audience to pick up on the subtleties, "Everyone will come away with a different idea."

By L.J. Jackson

Ivanhoe- The Hastings County District Women's Ins Variety Night held at Ivanhoe Hall recently brought joy, music and entertainment to a delighted audience.

It was a stimulating evening filled with talent that I would expect to travel miles to be a part of, but it happened right in the midst of Ivanhoe hosted by the VCA's Institute.

MC for the evening Grant Ketcheson introduces a variety of entertainment from gospel singing, to pop piano and violin to downright hilarious. A fashion show by designer and seamstress Julie McKellar intrigues

Kramp fights for First Nations

Prince Edward-Hastings MP Daryl Kramp continues his fight to secure funding for the First Nations Technical Institute (FNTI) in Tyendinaga. At a public accounts committee meeting last week in Ottawa, Mr. Kramp raised the issue with the Hon. Andy Scott, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development and his departmental officials.

"I had the opportunity to attend a meeting with the of Directors of FNTI and with Minister Scott and his ment last month," Kramp stated. "The minister and the federal government was committed to partial fun for the educational institution. I intend to pursue this to ensure that the funding applications receive com funding. I commend everyone involved in with the in their fight to make their school even better."

The First National Technical Institute is seeking ing to continue its role as one of the leading First N technical schools in Canada.

The Frog Prince at Madoc Township Scho

On Wednesday, April 20th students enjoyed a performance by Skookie Productions called "The Frog Prince".

The Frog Prince is an adaptation of the Grimm tale, with a twist. In this version, the Prince is a modern environmentalist who is turned into a frog by an evil, hating witch. He meets the rich, spoiled Princess who loses her golden ball. The Frog journeys to the castle and confronts the Princess. She is forced to keep the prince that she made to him. The Prince is then saved from the froggy fate by the Princess, just as in the traditional fairy. The Prince and Princess, now friends, commit "Green Cursade", and attempt to clean up the king's mess. This witch is not impressed!

Thank you to the School Council for the partial funding to make this event possible!

Foreign investors visit with Trenval

Trenval Business Development Corporation and Quinte Economic Development Commission (QEDC) recently hosted 15 potential investors from a dozen countries to the Quinte area. The local stop (on Friday, May 6th) was part of a three day, two night tour and they reviewed the Quinte area for potentially creating new businesses or purchasing existing ones.

This venture was part of a Regional Project of the Eastern Ontario Development Fund (EODF) in partnership with Industry Canada and administered by the 15 Community Futures Development Corporations (CFDCs) of Eastern Ontario. The project lead was

Anne Prichard of the Frontenac CFDC while Claudia Penolosa of the Ontario Ministry of Economic Development and Trade's (MEDT) Business Immigration Section coordinated the selection of foreign investors.

Investors came from Korea, Brazil, India, Malaysia, Iran, Guyana, Venezuela, Bangladesh, Tanzania, Pakistan, Singapore and China. During their bus tour of Eastern Ontario, other stops included Cornwall, Pembroke, Renfrew, Brockville, Morrisburg, Prince Edward County, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac County.

"This is another good example of various levels of government working together", notes Trenval Executive Director Gerrit DeBruyn. "It was federal funding through the EODF that paid for this venture, the Province that organized foreign investors and the local representation such as Trenval and the QEDC that toured them through and promoted our Quinte area".

QEDC manager Chris King said it was time well spent. "We have made some great contacts who said that they like our area and they will be following up on potential business in Quinte".

The EODF is a $10 million Government of Canada initiative administered by 15 Community Futures Development Corporations (CFDCs) in Eastern Ontario. Another additional $8.2 million was announced in the recent 2005 Federal Budget. The EODF was initiated by a joint request of the 15 CFDCs and the Eastern Ontario Warden's Caucus. All of the EODF programs help to promote socio-economic development in rural Eastern Ontario to nurture a competitive and diversified economy to contribute to the successful development of job opportunities and sustainable communities.

Ramblings...

By L.J. Jackson

Sometimes it is best to keep it simple...as this story related to me by a person in the area.

A nine year old boy was visiting a friend. He asked the parents he was visiting, "How do you tell a boy moose from a girl moose?"

Well the woman went into a long rambling of female and male anatomy, using scientific terms, with the the nine year olds blank look growing blonder by the minute.

The man of the house, picking up on the young fellow's desire for a straight answer to what he had perceived as a simple question, added:

"Boy moose have antlers."

The happy nine year old went back to enjoying his visit with their daughter happy to know the answer.

Where do babies come from?

A young lady asked me, "Where do babies come from?" I told her she should asked her mom and dad that question, but she insisted that I was with the newspaper and I could get the right answers. Besides, mommy and daddy are probably busy. They work a lot.

I tried passing the task along to her grandparents, but she said she didn't have none of those around - so for this young lady - I have done a thorough investigation into the matter.

Most mothers, interviewed have told me that "they grow inside a mommy's tummy".

That answer appeared a bit fluffy, so I probed further with investigative journalism. I asked, "How did they get in there?"

I received a few answers to that question, some ramblings that didn't seem to make much sense at all.

I checked out books at the Library and the internet. There were many answers, some so complicated, I had a difficult time understanding them. Well young lady, the best I could come up with was this:

To make a baby you need a sperm cell and an egg cell. The sperm cell comes from the daddy and the egg cell comes from the mommy. When the sperm and egg meet, they make a tiny baby that is smaller than a tiny piece of salt. That is very very small. The baby grows in the mommy's tummy for a long time - nine months. Then the mommy goes to the hospital and "ta-da", there is a new born baby.

But the very best answer I received was, "Babies come from love".

I hope this answers your question young lady and again, please talk to your mommy and daddy. I am sure they have all the right answers to any more questions you might have. Another person you could talk to would be your teacher or your minister at Sunday School.

To moms and dads: It is a busy world out there today, just trying to make ends meet, but please take time to discuss the "little" things in life with your children. They are our future - lets help them get it right.

Letters to the editor

Feminist and anti-oppression concerns

To The Editor
 I am writing on behalf of Northumberland Services for Women regarding Chief Clement's comment "boys will be boys". I would expect that Chief Clement was not intending to trivialize the outcome of the boys' behaviour, however, the statement has obviously had a strong impact on the community, the media, and others in the province that have followed this story. The positions that others have taken regarding his statement and his personal sharing are quite to the point with respect to responsibility and common sense.

I would, however, like to speak to an important issue regarding this statement. "Boys will be boys" implies an understanding that boys will engage in certain behaviours that while not sanctioned by all of North American society, are all too often accepted and understood. "Boys will be boys" comes from the same ideology that says that "men will be men", and that men have specific gender-related permissions in our society. That particular view of the world promotes and supports gender biases, oppression in many forms, and the abuse of women, children, and those who are neither 'boys' nor 'men' according to the 'old boys club' definition of a man. Those beliefs are powerful and costly in our society. Social service organizations and the justice system work every day with victims of oppression and abuse that are perpetrated by people who are more powerful than their victims, and who see their behaviour as their 'right', as well as a legitimate means to their ends. Many of those who were victim to oppressors become oppressors themselves, as that is the only way they know to survive. Bullying in the school yard, date rape, and abuse of women, children and persons who are 'different' than the abuser is widespread. There are countless dollars spent on education, prevention, and treatment regarding these issues, and yet they continue.

Socially embedded beliefs and values are extremely difficult to change. We have all to be aware of our own beliefs and behaviours, and how they discourage or support oppression and abuse. When a child destroys property, they are being oppressive. Destroying property can move very quickly to harming people, and often children are doing both, long before they are of an age to be charged. When we do our best to live our lives without oppression or abuse, we do not in any way condone or minimize destructive behaviour. At the same time, we must treat the abuser humanely. In this situation, these boys have managed to create great pain and suffering both financially and emotionally. They now have before them the opportunity to learn to make different choices. A society that respects and values people will promote that learning opportunity in every way possible.

Language has great power in our society. We often use it without thought for the implications that the language itself has. While the Chief was likely trying to mitigate some of the more extreme reactions to these children's actions, he has unfortunately chosen language that only serves to reinforce a belief system that condones abusers. Our community would be a much safer place to live if we all invested time and energy in examining our own values and how we live them out.

Financial report shows absence of NHL proved bonanza for Jr. Rebels

Gate receipts up over $22,300 mark

By Rolly Ethier

Campbellford—Failing an attempt to claim their third consecutive league championship was compensated somewhat by a much-improved financial season for the Campbellford Rebels.

Gate receipts for the 17 regular scheduled home games showed an increase of $3,348 for the 2004-05 Empire League junior C season and the Rebels took in more than $22,300 in total ticket sales, including playoffs.

With more than $17,000 in the kitty to start a new season, team treasurer Bob Reid attributed the healthy financial picture to the absence of televised National Hockey League action. The assessment came as he delivered his report Saturday at the Rebels' annual awards dinner.

"People in all communities had to get their hockey fix by turning out to watch the local teams play," noted Reid. "Not only was this good for our league as most teams experienced improved fan attendance but most junior teams in the province got a boost from the NHL labour dispute."

Various fundraisers, including the ATV draw, team program advertising, Nevada tickets and sweater sponsors, brought in added revenue. But that was offset by expenditures of almost $66,000. The major costs were ice rental of $12,300, transportation of $7,820 and $4,581 being extracted for league expenditures.

Jim Peeling, who confirmed his intention of returning as General Manager and Coach for next season, extended the Rebels' thanks to all of the various sponsors and supporters, including the Canadian Tire store through Steve McCarthy as a major benefactor.

Analyzing the season, Peeling said team management and the players would have to look in the mirror for reasons why the Rebels failed to make it three straight league championships.

"We've won five league crowns in the past nine years and if we couldn't win it again this season it was nice to see the Amherstview Jets come through for the first time in 13 years," he noted.

Three Major Winners

Three of the major winners in the team award selections were co-captain Joe Curry, defenceman Nick Temple and goaltender Jeff King.

Curry's exploits included not only being the Most Valuable Player for his team but being chosen unanimously as the Empire League's MVP.

The perpetual motion skater is also in the running for the OHA junior C Player of the Year trophy to be decided at the annual June meeting in St. Catharines.

In his presentation of the team MVP award to Curry executive member Gene Branney referred to the Have lock product as "a young man who led by example and brought his heart to the game and dressing room."

League convenor Trevor Tinney presented Curry the league MVP award. He described him as "a special kid"

Line Fences Act deters development of trails, claims AMO resolution

Campbellford—The Association of Municipalities of Ontario has expressed general support for trail development in the province but is concerned over the continued burden that Section 20 of the Line Fences Act places on municipalities.

The Municipality of Trent Hills approved the AMO position at a recent Council meeting.

The Ministry's Advisory Committee on Trails advocates trails as an important part of Ontario's recreation and tourism infrastructure. However, the AMO says the Line Fences Act makes municipalities who have purchased federal or provincial railway lines responsible for "constructing, keeping up and repairing the fences that mark the lateral boundaries."

The AMO says the rules mean that the municipality must absorb all costs related to maintaining existing fences to protect property owners from active railways. Recent court rulings have interpreted the legislation to require new fences where none existed before.

The Line Fences Act is serving as a deterrent to municipal governments from considering purchasing railway lands for recreational or tourism use due to the high costs, says the AMO resolution.

It contends the costs of fencing, construction and maintenance, should be borne jointly by abutting landowners concerned about protecting their personal interests. Also it says the Line-Fence Viewer's Award and Referee's Award should be made enforceable and associated costs recoverable.

Home Improvement Guide

Boundaries Blurred Between Outdoor and Indoor Living Areas

The boundaries nowadays between indoor and outdoor living areas are becoming blurred. Backyards are becoming prime living spaces, a trend that allows families to add living space without the exorbitant expense of a home renovation.

If you're considering creating your own outdoor room, the first thing you need to consider is comfort. If you're not comfortable in a space, you won't use it. A shaded area is so much more welcoming than an area exposed to the elements and helps you avoid negatives like heat and sun glare. A great way to add shade is by installing a canopy over your outdoor living space.

Canopies don't have to be costly. The Easy Gardener® Sun Screen Canopy™ is a great new product on the market. This retractable shade system cools patios, decks and sunrooms. A 12 foot by 16 foot patio or deck can be shaded for less than $400.

Any do-it-yourselfer can install the shade system using everyday tools. All you need are the Sun Screen Canopy Hardware Kit and Sun Screen Canopy Fabric Kit (available in lawn and garden centers, hardware stores, or by calling 1-800-EASY-INC).

The fabrics come in solids and stripes in five popular colors and are made from 100 percent weather-resistant polyester. The fabric is machine washable and guaranteed for up to five years of outdoor use.

Designed as a modular system of fabric panels, Sun Screen Canopy hardware attaches easily to existing balconies, patios and arbors. If you don't have a structure, you can build a simple frame following the instructions inside every kit.

Once you get your Sun Screen Canopy up, start thinking about what you would like to do with the "room" underneath it. Just like an indoor room, an outdoor room requires planning. Rooms can be elaborate or simple; it just depends on your taste.

Nowadays, there is more available in terms of outdoor furnishings — just shop around and look for things you find inviting. A unique picnic table, decorative chaise lounge or ultramodern outdoor grill will set the tone of your room. Don't be afraid to think outside the box. Try using items that weren't necessarily meant for the outdoors, like colorful throw pillows. Remember, since the area is covered, you will have a little more leeway when it comes to furnishings.

This year, add to your living space by creating a fabulous outdoor room. If you just take the time to properly plan and shade your area, you'll find yourself enjoying the great outdoors more than ever.

Tips on how to Paint Like a Pro

With the right tools, painting your home can be an easy and affordable do-it-yourself project.

The home-improvement season has arrived, bringing with it a change in mood, temperature and an increase in household projects. Warmer weather presents a much-needed opportunity to open the windows, let in fresh air and sunlight, and pursue do-it-yourself projects like painting.

Whether your motivation for painting a room is pure maintenance or a desire to liven up your living area, it's one of the most affordable home-improvement projects you can do. Follow these tips for selecting the proper painting tools to make the job easy and enjoyable this season.

1. Paint Selection

First, select your desired paint color and finish. For the finish, you need to consider whether you want to achieve a flat, eggshell, satin, semi-gloss or high-gloss look. To avoid any unwanted surprises, always examine paint swatches in the same lighting environment as the actual room. When painting over a drastically darker or lighter color, invest time and money in a primer or white base coat. It can help reduce the number of paint coats required to achieve the desired look. Consult your local do-it-yourself retailer for help in selecting the right primer.

2. The Right Tool for the Job

There are several tools on the market that help make the job easier and even more comfortable. It's a good idea to keep a variety of paint brush sizes and angles on hand for edging and getting into the tight spots. Minirollers help you cover more ground in narrow spaces, such as the space between a light switch and the door frame. Rollers with extended handles, on the other hand, allow you to use longer strokes and work well for painting ceilings. Picking the right paint pail is equally important. Let's face it, traditional metal paint cans and their finger-pinching handles weren't designed to offer pain-free application. Minimize pain and the sloppiness that coincides with it by using the HANDY Paint Pail and the HANDY Paint Pail Pro-Series. The pails are equipped with soft plastic, adjustable straps that provide a full-mitten grip, allowing you to paint for hours — without the ensuing trips to the physical therapist. The straps can also affix to a belt for hands-free use when painting from a ladder.

3. Application Tips

Before you begin painting, always mix the paint well to help prevent clumps and ensure an even color as you paint. Getting the right amount of paint on the brush or roller is the key to achieving an even application and preventing unnecessary drips. Select a paint pail that's equipped with a built-in lip or grid to help scrape-off excess paint. Few paint jobs can be completed from beginning to end without any interruptions. Pails with sealable covers allow you to step away while keeping the paint fresh for its next use.

4. Easy Cleanup

Cleaning up after any paint job is certainly messy, if not messier than painting itself. The best way to minimize the mess is to keep paint off of you and your hands. Pails with a built-in hook or magnet, such as the HANDY Paint Pail, will prevent the handle of your brush or roller from falling into the paint. Another thing to look for is pails that come with disposable plastic liners. They are an inexpensive way to cut your cleanup time in half; simply discard when you are finished using them. Liners are also ideal for jobs where multiple colors are being used, like in faux finishing techniques that use a sponge or rag. With a different liner for each color, you can quickly swap out one liner for the next as quickly as you rotate between color applications.

Whether you're a weekend warrior or a professional painter, these simple tips will help you transform the walls of your home without the added stress or hassle.

Westben prepares eagerly for premiere of Rapunzel

Campbellford—A new rapin' Rapunzel hits the boards, when the Westben Arts Festival Theatre near Campbellford opens its 2005-06 season at The Barn with the world premiere of RAPUNZEL, a musical by Brian Finley. Soprano Donna Bennett and tenor Michael Burgess star in a cast of 60 in eight performances, running between June 10 and 19.

Tickets range from $20 (students) to $40. For tickets and information, call 1-877-883-5777 or visit www.westben.on.ca.

Start times are Fridays, June 10 and 17, 7 p.m.; Saturdays, June 11 and 18, 2 p.m. Sundays, June 12 and 19, 2 p.m.; Tuesday, June 14, 7 p.m.; and Thursday, June 16, 2 p.m.

Westben's Artistic Director Brian Finley, a composer (Samson, Requiem for a Millennium, musical adaptation of A Christmas Carol) and pianist who co-founded the Festival with his wife Donna Bennett, has updated the Grimm Brothers fairytale, creating both the music and the libretto.

As Music Director, Finley conducts a small ensemble from the piano. Stage Director is Brenda Finley. Sets are designed by Caroline Langgill, costumes by Martha Cockshutt, and lighting by Renée Brode. Ken Tizzard, who has recorded platinum albums with two of Canada's most prestigious bands, Thornley and The Watchmen, joins Brian Finley in the pit as assistant music director and co-arranger.

Soprano Donna Bennett (Samson, Canadian Opera Company productions of Albert Herring and Hansel and Gretel) stars as Rapunzel, who as a 12-year-old named Zelda was taken by an evil publisher and recording studio magnate and eventually turned into a rap star. At the height of international stardom, she has an ill-fated romance with Harvey Prince, a sympathetic Sound Man who is also a gifted composer. The relationship brings her face to face with her true self.

Tenor Michael Burgess (Jean Valjean in Les Misérables; The Man of La Mancha) is the Sound Man. Operatic mezzo-soprano Gabrielle Prata (Carmen, La Cenerentola, Barber of Seville) is Madam Whicher, a publisher and owner/impresario of Tower Studio. Baritone Robert Longo (The Beast in the Toronto production of Beauty and the Beast; Shenandoah on Broadway; various roles with Opera Atelier) plays Rapunzel's father, Matt.

The remaining roles - including the 12-year-old Zelda - will be performed by professional actors and singers and community members who receive mentoring through their work with the Westben Arts Festival Theatre.

Composer Brian Finley credits the Westben Arts Festival Theatre, in the countryside, with the inspiration for his RAPUNZEL. "I imagined a beautiful voice floating through nature; a voice that captivates without being seen, and one which is in perfect harmony with the nature all around it."

The theme of the piece is about being true to one's essence.

"We strive to be honest to the music within us, yet so many influences take us away from that essence," says Brian. "Often, we can only rediscover that inner truth through the eyes (and ears) of others. In this updated RAPUNZEL, it is a Sound Man who reintroduces an ivory tower superstar to her true essence."

As a music theatre work, RAPUNZEL is 95 per cent music, in a combination of operatic and music-theatre style. While the title character is a rap star, Finley employs the music form sparingly, and for contrast. "Rap is a wonderfully aggressive medium full of dramatic potency. As the core of Rapunzel's 'anti-essence,' it makes a superb foil to her beautiful inner truth."

The Westben Arts Festival's production of RAPUNZEL is sponsored by Framework Partners and the Windswept Group, as well as Capers Casual Dining, Eclectic Mix, Havelock Pharmacy and Stone House Gardens.

Nestled amongst the peaceful hills of Northumberland County, 90 minutes east of Toronto, Westben's primary performance venue is a custom-built, timber-frame barn. The Barn seats 400 and combines state-of-the-art acoustics with a rustic yet sophisticated atmosphere.

On sunny summer days, massive walls and doors roll away allowing music to waft over the surrounding meadow. The Barn is also the site of a variety of concerts in the Westben Arts Festival Theatre's sixth season. From June 10 to August 1, audiences can enjoy music from Bach and Beethoven to Broadway favourites, classical guitar, chamber music, vocal and choral delights and jazz - featuring some of Canada's finest musicians.

Tapper 'tapped' by OHL

Marmora's Anthony Tapper was drafted in the seventh round of last Saturday's Ontario Hockey League priority selection by the St. Michael's Majors. He was the fourth player picked by the Majors (127th overall) in a draft that included 16 rounds.

Tapper is the second Marmora resident to play for the Majors — the other one was goalie Dwayne Bateman.

Tapper, a forward, played for the Quinte Red Devils minor midget team this year and in 32 games scored 9 goals, had 13 assists and 12 penalty minutes.

He's listed at 5' 11", 160 lbs and was born in 1989.

Holiday boxing card in Hastings

By Bill Freeman

Hastings - Amateur boxing fans can get their fix during a fight card at the Hastings Memorial Arena May 20.

Put on by the Triumph Boxing Club in conjunction with the Hastings Waterfront Development Committee, the card features 11 confirmed bouts with the prospect of three more being added to the night's entertainment.

Two of those confirmed bouts will feature female boxers and organizers indicate there could be one more women's bout on slate that night.

Boxers from Ottawa, Lindsay, Kingston, Niagara Falls, Calgary as well as Peterborough will take to the ring.

"This event is a trial for our Summerfest events," says

Waterfront Committee member Tony Tuit.

Another big boxing card is being planned for the July 15-17 weekend which has become a midsummer celebration of Hastings and all it has to offer. That weekend will include a Shriner's Parade and a Legends karaoke night at the arena.

The May 20 fight card starts at 7 pm and Mr. Tuit says signs are being put up around the area including 88 that will be delivered to area camp sites.

Unsung hero: Probably the quietest member of the Norwood J.J. Stewart Vipers, Paul McInnes was also one of the finest defencemen in the Eastern Ontario Senior A loop. A foot injury kept him out of the line-up during the final series against Whitby and that was a very serious loss to a team intent on keeping the league's top offense in check. Paul was voted the team's Unsung Player (sponsored by Archer Trucking) winner and was presented with the award by head coach Brian Hayton. Photo/Bill Freeman

Attention Well Owners Pine Veau Fracturing

Hydro Fracturing is the process of using water under extreme pressure to break the barrier that is preventing an underground water source from flowing freely into a well. This is not a new technology; the process has been used in oil fields for some 95 years. The technology is new to the water-well industry. This machine fractures the underground rock and opens up the fissures already existing in the rock.

Highly Technical Machine. The high-pressure components for our machines have come directly from the oil fields. The machine produces over 6000 psi (pounds per square inch) and pumps up to 200 GPM (gallons per minute), creating an extremely high pressure in the well. The extreme high pressure opens blocked water veins, producing a higher output well. By fracturing an existing drilled well, we can improve the flow of the well, even if the well is considered dry, or has gone dry after many productive years. To fracture an existing well, there is no mess of digging up lawns or cutting asphalt driveways to hook up pump in new wells. The cost of drilling a new well can be considerable, with no guarantee of increasing the present GPM. To increase our success to 99%, we have developed a system called a double packer, where we can isolate a zone 12-20 ft. by blocking an area top and bottom, then put a pipe with holes in it between our packers. No pressure can go beyond the two packers. This allows us to open up more areas in the wells called aquifers. This system can also be used in wells where an area of bad water exists. We can go above and below where good water is found. For example, if salt or sulphur is found at the bottom of a well it can be plugged up and we can fracture nearer the top in the rock where water quality is better.

Avoid Unnecessary Cost. If you have an existing well or are considering drilling a new well...WE can save you money! In 99% of all new wells once considered dry that we have hydro-fractured, we have found water between 50 ft. - 300 ft.

Protect Your Investment. A piece of land, a home or a business is of no value without water. The cost of this service can be measured in more than the dollar value...water is absolutely necessary to life itself.

Canadian youth 4th highest in international obesity study

Canadian youth rank fourth-highest on the obesity scale in a new international study of adolescents from 34 countries, says co-author Dr. Ian Janssen, a professor in Queen's University's School of Physical & Health Education and Department of Community Health & Epidemiology.

And sedentary behaviour – like watching television – was strongly correlated with being overweight, he adds.

Along with this alarming finding is one that runs contrary to what the research team expected. Surprisingly, as consumption of candy and chocolate increased, the likelihood of being overweight decreased.

"This does not mean that eating sweets in large quantities is recommended for young people," says Dr. Janssen, pointing out that the frequency of candy eating, rather than total amount consumed, was surveyed. While difficult to explain, the dietary results only underline the importance of focusing on physical activity rather than food intake as the primary way to combat overweight and obesity, the researcher emphasizes.

"The adolescent obesity epidemic is a global issue," concludes the paper, which appears in the May issue of Obesity Reviews, a journal of the International Association for the Study

The study is based on statistics gathered in 2001-2002 by the World Health Organization's Health Behaviour in School-Aged Children report, which Program Evaluation Group (SPEG).

As well as placing fourth overall for obesity (at 4.1 per cent), Canadian youth ranked fifth for "overweight" (19.3 per cent). The three countries with the highest prevalence of obesity were Malta (7.9 per cent), the United States (6.8 per cent), and England (5.1 per cent). The highest prevalence of overweight youth was found in Malta (25.4 per cent), the U.S. (25.1 per cent), and Wales (21.1 per cent).

Noting that no Asian or African countries were included, the study says it is very interesting that in 77 per cent of countries examined, a per cent of youth were overweight, and in 20 per cent of the countries, at least, were obese.

"The fact that similarities were found across countries and cultures demonstrates the robustness of these findings," says Dr. Janssen. "Physical activity interventions and a fundamental component of health campaigns are reducing the global obesity epidemic."

Kiwanis yellow ducks race for the win

A yellow rubber duck raced into first place at the 2nd Annual Kiwanis Duck Derby recently with duck #391 winning one thousand dollars for Gerald Walker of Michigan USA.

It was a race against the fleeting waters of the creek as the Kiwanis ducks paddled their way to the win.

Canada first to approve cannabis-based drug

Canada first to approve cannabis-based drug
Canada is the first country to approve the cannabis-derived drug Sativex, which is designed to treat the central nervous system and reduce multiple sclerosis (MS) symptoms.

The drug, which is administered by mouth spray, will be marketed in Canada by German pharmaceutical company Bayer and is expected to be available for sale following later this spring.

Sativex is made by UK biotech company GW Pharmaceuticals, which says this is the world's first approval of a drug derived from cannabis.

"The approval of Sativex reflects the urgent need for additional treatment options in the field of neuropathic pain in MS," Dr. Allan Gordon of Mount Sinai Hospital in Toronto, said in a statement issued by Health Canada.

About 50,000 Canadians have MS. Half of them are estimated to suffer from nerve pain.

of player who shows his dedication on and off the ice and the league recognizes that type of commitment."

There were other team awards for Curry. He was named co-winner with Gordie Nelson as the Rebels' most dedicated player and he also captured the team's highest scorer award.

Temple, who could be headed for Tier Two junior promotion next season, was not only selected rookie-of-the-year but he was also chosen the Rebels' outstanding defenceman. He scored five game-winning goals during the regular schedule and was a stellar performer defensively.

Made the Difference

"Teams generally need a hot goaltender to get them through the playoffs," said executive member Tom Tanner in presenting the team's MVP playoff award to Jeff King. "This young man was outstanding through the round-robin and made the difference for the Rebels as they eliminated Napanee in the semi-finals."

Backup goalie Curtis (Cujo) Johnston was named the team's Unsung Hero Award winner while Jamie Bowman took home Most Improved Player honours. Peeling lauded Johnston as an outstanding team player. The Coach's Choice Award produced co-winners with Craig Fleming and Brennan Tuckett sharing honours.

Both Curry and Nelson, the latter having completed an outstanding junior career with the Rebels, expressed their appreciation to teammates, coaches and the executive for a memorable season.

"We had our ups and downs this season but this was still one of the best-connected teams I've ever played on," said Curry.

"Thanks to all the people responsible for keeping a junior C team operating in Campbellford," added Nelson.

Above - Pillars of Strength---Campbellford Rebels failed in their bid to three-peat as Empire League junior C champions but they enjoyed a successful year, losing in the finals to the Amherstview Jets. Nevertheless these five players turned in strong performances and were rewarded for their efforts Saturday night at the awards' dinner. From left: goalie Curtis (Cujo) Johnston, most dedicated player; Craig Fleming, co-winner of the Coaches Choice Award; Gordie Nelson, co-winner Most Dedicated Player award; Brennan Tuckett, co-winner of the Coaches Choice award; and Jamie Bowman, Most Improved Player award. photo/Rolly Ethier.

Right - Talented Trio---This threesome captured some of the most prestigious honours at the Campbellford Rebels' awards dinner. From left: defenceman Nick Temple, the team's outstanding defenceman and rookie-of-the-year; goalie Jeff King, most valuable play-off performer; and Joe Curry, unanimously voted the Empire League's outstanding player, the Rebels' MVP in the regular schedule and the team's top scorer. The Madoc TIM-BR Mart is now open and ready for business at its new location at 48 Cooper Road and Highway #7. It has been a long haul for Gerrard Forestell and his two sons Brian and Brent. "We are happy to be in the new location, but we wanted to take the opportunity to thank our customers for being patient and understanding during our construction of the new store and the move. Our level of service and availability wasn't what it should have been. Our focus is now back on serving our customers!" comments the Forestells.

In the new location they can do this better. They now offer an even wider range of product lines and expanded showroom area to showcase kitchen, bathroom, and floor coverings.

Things have changed at the Madoc TIM-BR Mart, but they are changing in the industry right across the board. Large companies are consolidating and taking over the smaller businesses. TIM-BR Mart corporately, has been adding members and growing the company in order to stay competitive. They now have over a thousand stores coast to coast which gives them better buying power, hence passing along the savings to you the consumer.

The Madoc store carries lumber and building materials with a selection of hardware that compliments the building industry. There is also a new focus on helping people coordinate the interior design of their home or renovation. From kitchen design to custom paint colour schemes, multiple floor covering options, and trim, they've become a complete one stop location for all your building and home improvement requirements.

So the next time you're considering a project, stop by the Madoc TIM-BR Mart location at 48 Cooper Road. The friendly advice from their knowledgeable staff is always free and the selection of product is worth the browse. If you require consultation over the phone, you can reach them at (613) 473-2366.

Annual rabies control operations have begun

To protect the people of Ontario against rabies, the province has started planning its annual wildlife rabies control operations for 2005.

The Ministry of Natural Resources is committed to the research, control and eradication of rabies in Ontario, thereby protecting the health and safety of the public, their pets and the wildlife of this province. Ontario's programs are so successful that broad areas of southern Ontario are free of fox and raccoon rabies.

If a person is exposed to rabies and does not receive treatment before they show symptoms, the disease is fatal.

The province uses a number of control measures in the fight against the deadly rabies virus:

- control measures at the point of infection (starting in early spring);
- trap-vaccinate-release programs (starting in early summer); and
- widespread aerial vaccine baiting (starting in late summer)

Cases of fox-strain rabies have dropped dramatically across Ontario to only 54 cases in 2004, down from 1,500 before control measures were implemented in 1989, a 97 per cent drop. There were only 4 confirmed raccoon rabies cases in 2004, less than last year and down from 45 cases in 2001.

n jurisdictions such as neighbouring New York State, which did not have proactive, multi-partner programs, the number of raccoon rabies cases had climbed to more than 5500 in the initial five-year period. Ontario's MNR-led program is so effective that, in the first five years, only 131 (as of January 27, 2005) cases of raccoon rabies have been confirmed.

Much of Ontario's success in controlling the spread of raccoon rabies is attributable to the introduction of a high-risk area in eastern Ontario. Efforts will continue in that area, since several cases of raccoon rabies were confirmed within 10 km of the City of Ottawa boundary in 2000, and several raccoon rabies cases last year were near to the city's boundary. As such, the boundaries for the raccoon rabies high-risk area remained the same for 2004.

In the high-risk area it is illegal to relocate raccoons, foxes and skunks. As well, raccoons, foxes and skunks that are captured in the high-risk area must be released immediately at the point of capture, or humanely euthanized as soon as possible and within 24 hours. Please view this map to see if you are in the Raccoon Rabies High-Risk Area or contact your MNR District Office for further information.

The rabies control program is a joint effort that receives important input from a variety of partners across Ontario. Regional health units, municipalities, wildlife rehabilitators, licensed trappers, wildlife control agents and aboriginal communities are all key to the continued success of Ontario's world-renowned rabies control program.

Is there a Jane Goodall out there?

Animal Action Awards

If you know someone from the area who has done something outstanding for animals, they may be eligible for an Animal Action Award from the International Fund for Animal Welfare.

Each year, the International Fund for Animal Welfare scours the country looking for individuals and organizations whose dedication to animals is worthy of recognition. Perhaps you know someone who rescues abandoned animals, or who campaigns tirelessly for animal welfare legislation. Maybe you know of a company who donates its time and funds to the protection of an endangered species or an individual who makes a difference in the lives of animals.

Your nominee may, in fact, qualify for the Lifetime Achievement Award; a special award granted to those rare individuals who extraordinary commitment to animals has improved animal welfare across Canada and throughout the world. Previous winners include world-renowned author Farley Mowat and primatologist Dr. Jane Goodall.

Please write to IFAW and tell them about your nominee's work with animals along with addresses and daytime contact numbers for both of you. Mail your nomination letter to IFAW Canada, Animal Action Awards, 1 Nicholas Street, Suite 612, Ottawa, ON K1N 7B7, fax it to 613-241-0641 or click on Animal Action Week at www.ifaw.org. The nomination deadline is July 1. For more information, call 888-500-IFAW.

Animal Action Awards will be held during Oct. 2-8, 2005 and is celebrated in 10 countries around the world.

Low-cost Tips on Getting Your Home Ready to Sell

The first step to selling your home is making any minor cosmetic improvements. These changes may be as simple as: applying a fresh coat of paint to the walls, adding a decorative handrail to the entryway steps, or adding new knobs to the kitchen cabinets. Whatever you can afford to do to freshen up the look of your home will only make it more appealing to prospective buyers.

Here are a few low-cost tips on how to get your home ready to sell from general contractor Brian Gurry, host of CN8, The Comcast Network's reality-based home improvement show, "American Builder", which uncovers the trials and tribulations of residential and commercial construction projects.

• Get a gallon of paint. First impressions are crucial, says Gurry. "Paint the front door and trim as well as the entranceway to create a polished appearance upon entry," says Gurry. "The investment of a can of paint, roller, brush and a few hours of labor will be well worth it once the house goes on the market."

• Mulch makes a difference. Many homeowners have mulch around the yard, but it's often been on the ground for a few years. "You can forget how good fresh mulch looks," Gurry says. "It doesn't take much to make your mulch look brand-new — just rake the piles and add a new inch or two to the top."

• Wash your windows. Clean your windows inside and out to make your home really sparkle. "Dirty windows can block up to 30 percent of sunlight," Gurry says. "When you walk into a room after the windows are cleaned, you will immediately notice how much better it looks. You may not be able to figure out why, but the room will shine." To get the job done, Gurry suggests doing it yourself or hiring a professional window cleaner (which could cost as little as $2 per window) who can finish the job in half the time.

• Clean your gutters. While many people have gutters, few take the time to regularly remove the debris. "It's the root of many problems including clogged downspouts and ice dams," warns Gurry. "If you don't want to climb a ladder yourself, check your local phone book for a handyman who can handle the task."

Why God made 'mom'

These answers given by elementary school age children to the following questions:

Old nutrient management bylaw stands for now Twp. will wait and see what province does

By Bill Freeman

Asphodel-Norwood—The Township's four-year-old nutrient management bylaw will remain in force unchanged.

A proposed by-law, given first reading last month, would have altered terminology and measurements from livestock to nutrient units harmonizing local law with provincial regulations. The by-law would have applied to operations expanding nutrient generation to between 150 and 299 nutrient units. Ontariai's Nutrient Management Act deals with all new operations and those over 300 nutrient units.

The move from livestock to nutrient units raised concerns in the local dairy farmers who would have been most affected by the move to nutrient units.

Under the old livestock unit system for Hostleins it was a factor of .8, says Ministry of Agriculture nutrient management specialist Peter Doris.

It would be a factor of .55 in a nutrient unit system.

"It does affect different species in different ways," he says of the shift to nutrient units. "A number of municipalities have kept their own by-laws and are still using the old livestock unit table."

Three hundred nutrient units represents 165 dry and milking cows as well as heifers and calves. Under the livestock unit system the number would have been 300. And while the "trigger" number remains the same at 150, that would represent 82 cows and their "followers" under the N.U. system.

The province's 2003 nutrient management act supersedes municipal by-laws when they deal with the same issues but local legislation still deals with operations of less than 300 nutrient units.

Most municipalities that had bylaws in place before 2003 have kept them, says Mr. Doris.

"Some have been amended to make themselves clear and consistent with provincial regulations. It is a council decision whether they want to or not."

Mr. Doris has advised the Township's nutrient management advisory committee. The move towards consistency with the NMA was a suggestion not a recommendation.

It does provide "clarity and consistency" for building departments, he notes.

"This is fairly major for the dairy guy," says Hastings dairy farmer John Crowley. "I wouldn't have a problem with changing if they had funding available for 150 to 300 nutrient units. As the situation is now leave the way it is."

Any funding available for nutrient management planning is only there for the 300 and over expansions, says Mr. Doris.

The issue of whether the government plans any more changes looms over everything. The question is: should municipalities revise their bylaws or wait.

It is only speculation, Mr. Doris says, but "there seems to be a fair bit of discussion in farm papers and organizations on changes."

Those "discussions" talk about a more "risk-based approach, he added.

"What it would look like I don't know."

Councillor Cathy Turner chairs the advisory committee and was involved in revising the original by-law.

"I appreciate what John is saying on the impact on dairy (but) at the same time those who had an interest in sheep say they very much wanted nutrient units. Some people would want to go to nutrient units others not."

"Council can keep the old by-law which is really not a whole lot different but there is a certain amount of confusion when one group asks to use one set of numbers and the Township another."

The old by-law was two years ahead of the province and at that time the 150 trigger number was standard across Ontario. An interim bylaw imposed "effectively said nobody could grow."

"That wasn't a good place to keep the farm community."

"We developed the bylaw because there was a great deal of concern from that group of people who don't understand farming and the benefits (of using manure)."

Mrs. Turner says she has also looked into possible provincial changes and how long they might take to implement.

"They do anticipate some changes -- a radical change from where they're at now. I believe the emphasis will go back again to voluntary compliance and less onerous reliance on paperwork. I believe all of these changes will be welcome."

But Mrs. Turner says no one is prepared to put anything in writing or give time frames.

"I believe this council will welcome that change and direction."

Dairy farmer Will Vanderhorst says that while the by-law treats all the same it still singles out different farmers.

"It is a great concern to all of us."

"I can see what you brought to the table and I respect your opinions," Reeve Doug Pearcy said. "For my own comfort I want to see a bylaw stay in place until we hear from the province."

The township will retain the old bylaw until the province acts. Then they will hold local public meetings before any changes are contemplated.

Feline Urinary Disease

Urinary problems are common in cats, particularly young males. The most serious form is urinary tract obstruction. These cats have either a plug of mucus and crystals, or a spasm of the urethra, which stops the flow of urine. They will strain to urinate and even howl in pain, but pass little or no urine. THIS IS AN EMERGENCY! If untreated these cats can suffer ruptured bladders, permanent kidney damage and death.

Many cases of urinary tract obstruction are caused by crystals in the urine, which lodge in the narrow urethra. These crystals can form for a variety of reasons, but the one we can control best is diet. Finding the appropriate food to prevent urinary crystals can be tricky. Selecting a brand that says "low ash" or "for urinary tract health" is NOT enough. The ash content of a diet simply refers to the level of minerals, but does not tell you which minerals are low. When it comes to statements like "for urinary tract health", there are no specific criteria that a food must meet in order to put this on the label. For the best advice, ask your veterinarian. We can give you a list of appropriate foods. These diets should be from a company whose reputation and research can be trusted. They should cause the cat to produce dilute urine, with low levels of magnesium, and an appropriate acidity to prevent crystals from forming. Ask your veterinarian about the best diet for your cat, to prevent this deadly problem.

Eastern Ontario cattlemen explore economic strategy

Northumberland—Cattlemen from four counties—Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Northumberland and Prince Edward—are working together to turn the current beef industry challenges into opportunities.

While the BSE crisis has created severe pressures for the beef industry throughout Eastern Ontario, the opportunity also arises to supply local merchants with high quality beef from local and trusted sources, utilizing safe farming practices.

The Four Counties Cattlemen's Association, with funding support provided in part by Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada through the Agricultural Adaptation Council's Can-Adapt Program, is pleased to announce an initiative designed to further this vision. A consulting firm experienced in both the agri-food industry and with the economy of eastern Ontario has been retained by the Association to investigate the potential and create a strategy.

Hank Hiddink, chair of the Four Counties Cattlemen's Association Steering Committee, said that the consultants would work closely with members, as well as representatives from government and other related organizations.

"The project will examine the entire value chain from producer through processors through the various markets, including retail, food service and connections to culinary tourism," says Hiddink.

"In the process, potential value-chain members will be identified who may wish to participate as the project unfolds into the next stage of implementation. We want the opportunities to outlast the BSE crisis and provide sustainable economic prosperity for all those involved."

It is expected the consultants will have completed their work by mid-summer.

content that still applies to today," actors spoke of the morals to each of the tales that still speaks across the centuries from the time of King Edward III and Richard II to Centre Hastings Secondary School Drama room. Chaucer was definitely not afraid of controversy, as the verses admit to.

The upcoming Canterbury Tales at the high school Drama room will be charged with the characters they represent, keeping to dark costume and no props. "We are the props. We are bedposts, tables, the chair is hilarious...The story tells itself."

Geoffrey Chaucer was in service to King Edward III and later to Richard II. Among his various duties were diplomatic courier (which enabled him to visit France and Italy, among other places), comptroller of petty customs, and justice of the peace.

Without a doubt, Geoffrey Chaucer offers us an unparalleled window to the High Middle Ages. His life and career in service to kings provide insight into the culture and society of late fourteenth-century Europe. His education and the works that influenced him draw us further back to the shaping of medieval European thought.

"It is an action based play... This was challenging for the class," Pat Wood said that the drama students have taken up that challenge and it was obvious at a recent interview with the class that they have dug deep down to the bare bones of the Middle Ages. "We had to get to know the times to understand the characters."

It has been especially challenging for the males in the senior drama class to keep up with the multiple male roles in the tales, so much so, one of the females had to step up for a male role.

As each character steps on stage they will challenge their audience to "see, hear and believe differently." They will catch glimpses of naughtiness with comedy and drama that has outlived its creator by centuries.

"It has been fun and we have some awesome actors."

Proceeds from the Canterbury Tales go directly back into the drama pot, paying bills and adding to the class opportunities.

The Wife of Bath is regarded, some feel, as "a woman many men lusted for and educated men fear." The upcoming Canterbury Tales at CHSS still claims the controversy it once did centuries ago and its poetic song still canter across the centuries with universal themes of love, humour and melancholy in strange exotic words.

"Tickets will be available at the office or at the door," Stage director, Meryl Rosenplot said that, twenty seven students have been practicing for the the upcoming play in front of an audience since March, working hard and "getting into the heads" of their characters, as well as the High Middle Ages when jousting and dance drew throngs of clapping.

"The subtlety adds to the comedy," many of the twenty seven students involved in the jousting verse agreed that "toning down" Chaucer's verse will only add to the appeal, as well as challenging the audience to pick up on the subtleties. "Everyone will come away with a different idea."

"It has been tuned down to be appropriate for school and general audience." With the rather naughty and risque poetic rhythm and verse of Geoffrey Chaucer, Senior Drama Teacher, Pat Wood said that a PG rated version was necessary, but she aged with the actors that, "it is actually funnier that way."

Sebastian Sallans and Chandan Trask heated up the evening with quiet musings and powerful movements at the District Women's Institute Variety Night held at Ivanhoe recently.

Ross Carlisle brought country gospel to the Ivanhoe Hall.

Don Bailey captured his audience with his powerful voice and song.

There was everything from the cozy to the easy fit.

You don't have to spend a lot of money on musical equipment to create an enjoyable evening. The Kitchen Kuties were a great addition to the Hastings County District Women's Institute Variety Night at Ivanhoe.

A fashion show with fashions by Julie McKellar displayed the talented designer and custom sewing with a host of models.

It was an evening of hilarity and laughter.

Linda Draper of SpringBrook read an engaging voice of "Changes".

They were "Comin' Round the Mountain" and asking "Playmate come out and play with me..."

Chandan Trask of Tweed immersed his audience with the powerful sounds of the piano.

The energetic band from Havelock took the audience to "Alexander's Ragtime Band" with the energy never ceasing as the unexpected kept happening. The young energetic lady took to a jig.

The Kitchen Kuties of Havelock livened up the evening with old songs and sweet comedy.

Not hearing as well as you used to?

The most spectacular part of the Norwood District High School Civil War re-enactment was the evening's grand ball which found union and confederate soldiers side by side as they squired elegantly dressed belles around the historic town hall dance floor. Re-enactment events at the school and Lang Pioneer Village drew appreciative crowds. More than 50,000 Canadians fought in the Civil War. See inside for more. Photo/Bill Freeman

Reeve Bob Sager accepts $90,000 grant for future development

Madoc Township - Hastings County Warden Charles Mullett, Community Futures Chair Bruce Walker and Member of Parliament for Prince Edward-Hastings, Daryl Kramp presented a check for $90,000 to Madoc Reeve Bob Sager and Municipal Council under the Business Development component of the Eastern Ontario Development Fund (EODF).

The EODF is a $10 million Government of Canada initiative announced during the spring of 2004. It promotes socio-economic development in rural Eastern Ontario, contributes to the successful development of business and job opportunities and sustainable self-reliant communities and is intended to lead to a competitive and diversified regional economy.

Madoc Township Reeve Bob Sager said, "On behalf of Madoc Township, I am pleased to accept this $90,000 grant from Industry Canada for the 7 & 62 development to help bring new jobs to Madoc township and Centre Hastings. We are happy to be working with Centre Hastings and Reeve Tom Deline."

"I am pleased to join with the Community Futures Development Corporation in announcing this partnership with local municipalities in Madoc Township," said MP Daryl Kramp. "As an area small businessman myself, I can certainly appreciate the efforts of the CFDC in helping to develop future commercial lands at the juncture of Highways 7 and 62."

Community Futures is partnering with area communities to help develop new road infrastructure to access private and municipal land at the junction of Highways 7 and 62 in Madoc Township to facilitate future commercial development on these properties. The $90,000 contribution will go toward costs associated with developing primary design and engineering plans, the environmental assessment process legal fees and required permits.

"Centre Hastings fully supported this project," said Sager.

Families needing help increasing

By L.J. Jackson

Centre Hastings - It is because of a dedicated Board of Directors who go beyond with hard work and ambitious attitudes to support those who need a bit of help, that the new Coordinator for Central Hastings Support Network Anne Barry, intimates she has found awe.

But it is for those who need a welcoming hand, that Barry digs into her reserve of determination to help. The numbers this year who require the services of Central Hastings Support Network have doubled, says Barry, "and the still climbing." More and more people, in the "473" are needing help from mainly the Food Bank, but Transp-

Local Liberals prepare for possible election

The Prince Edward Hastings Federal Liberal Association has embarked on the process to return a Liberal Member of Parliament to Ottawa and it's already clear there will be a hard fought battle for the local nomination.

At a recent meeting, the executive of the association unanimously supported the option of waiting for an election call before staging the nomination and with contenders already in the running, and the likelihood several more, there will be plenty of activity in the local fold in the days ahead. If the opposition ignores public opinion by refusing to wait for the Gomery report combines to defeat the government, local area Liberals be caught short.

Bill Jensen, chair of the election readiness committee, there's plenty of evidence that Liberal stalwarts are

MADOC REVIEWOPP reminds motorists of the safety & well being of children*Have a safe long weekend

The Ontario Provincial Police are raising the awareness among motorists about the dangers that affect everyone using our roads and highways. According to the OPP, among the many life-threatening risks on our roads, child safety cannot be underscored enough to motorists.

Most parents know that a child who weighs less than 18 kg. (40 lbs.) must be properly secured in a child safety seat. In addition, a child who weighs less than 9 kg. (20 lbs.) must be in a rear-facing child safety seat, whereas a child weighing between 9 kg. and 18 kg. must be in a forward-facing child safety seat.

It's important to remember that correctly installed and properly used child safety seats reduce deaths by about 70 per cent, hospitalization by 65 per cent and minor injuries by 50 per cent. These are all big numbers that should not be ignored when it comes to the safety and well-being of young children traveling in motor vehicles.

Safety experts strongly recommend that you install a booster seat to replace a child safety seat when your child turns six years old or weighs more than 18 kg.

Furthermore, children under the age of 12 should be in the back seat. It's always the safest place for them, especially if your vehicle is equipped with airbags.

Given the fact that booster seats will be mandatory this fall for a child weighing between 18 - 36 kg (40 - 80 lbs.), under 145 cm. (4'9") tall and under age eight, parents will no longer have a choice but to correctly restrain their children.

The OPP is reminding every motorist who takes the lives of children into their hands when transporting them in vehicles to ensure that they are properly restrained at all times according to their size, weight and age.

Unlicensed young people operating ATV's

Complaints of unlicensed young people operating their parents' ATV's on local roadways appear to be on the increase.

Police are reminding residents to remember and abide by the rules concerning ATV operation.

Pamphlets outlining these rules are available from the Stirling-Rawdon police office, the Ontario Provincial Police, Central Hastings detachment at Madoc, Ont., the Eastern Ontario Trails Alliance and selected businesses throughout the area.

Please contact your local Police for further information.

Three Vehicle Accident

Centre Hastings - A traffic accident has resulted in charges against one driver.

On Sunday, May 15th around 6:50 p.m. three vehicles collided at the intersection on Slab St. and Highway 62 in Ivanhoe.

A 50 year old Madoc resident is charged with following too close.

Kramp speaks with farmers on parliament hill

Prince Edward-Hastings MP Daryl Kramp addressed hundreds of farmers today as part of an agriculture rally in front of Centre Block on Parliament Hill.

"I am here today to stand with you, to stand up for rural Canada, and to make this government take notice of the terrible state many farmers and agricultural producers find themselves in today," Mr. Kramp stated. "From the failure to open the U.S. border to beef to the disaster of the CAIS relief program, this government has let rural Canada down."

Today's rally featured hundreds of tractors and other vehicles which completely filled Wellington Street in downtown Ottawa. Mr. Kramp previously attended an agriculture rally in Napanee where he addressed numerous issues with local farmers.

Mr. Kramp concluded, "thank you for taking the time away from your fields today from providing food for all Canadians. For many of you it is a financial sacrifice but I want you to know that all your sacrifices are appreciated to fight for this noble cause."

Plumb as a partridge - would she be amused?

 Linda Jackson
 ljackson@essencegroup.com

She married her cousin when she was 21 years old.
 As a child, she was trained to keep her chin up with the help of holty placed under her collar, if her head perched to rest.
 Her mother spoke German at home and this lady who died at the age of 82 never did learn to speak perfect English.
 Many may recognize her by some of her quotes:
 "Being pregnant is an occupational hazard of being a wife."
 "Great events make me quiet and calm; it is only trifles that irritate my nerves."

Although the lady herself is thought of as a bit feisty, she is quoted, "I am most anxious to enlist everyone who can speak or write to join in checking this mad, wicked folly of 'Women's Rights', with all its attendant horrors, on which her poor feeble sex is bent, forgetting every sense of womanly feelings and propriety. Feminists ought to get a good whipping. Were woman to 'unsex' themselves by claiming equality with men, they would become the most hateful, heathen and disgusting of beings and would surely perish without male protection."

She was born on a bright spring day, 24th May 1819, "Plumb as a partridge" was her father's description of the baby.

Seven attempts were made on her life, between 1840 and 1882 - her courageous attitude towards these attacks greatly strengthened her popularity.

"We are not amused" is one of her more popular quotes.
 She was the last teenager to rule England.
 "Moses", Sarah H. Bradford, mentioned this lady in her book, "Scenes in the Life of Harriet Tubman", in 1869: "Oh, I heard Queen Victoria say,

That if we would forsake
 Our native land of slavery,
 And come across the lake;
 That she was standin' on de shore,
 Wid arms extended wide,
 To give us all a peaceful home
 Beyond de rolling tide.
 Farewell, ole master, etc."

Queen Victoria was 18 years old when she took over the throne of England. Canada celebrates her birth this weekend.
 Happy May 24! Have a good Victoria Day weekend.

Deloro Arsenic Treatment Nearly Ready: Clay-lined lagoon (above) holds arsenic-tainted water before treatment. The process consists of treating the material in three stages with ferric chloride, lime and polymer which encapsulate the arsenic and renders it virtually inert and causes it to settle out in the form of sludge. It will require a further year to determine how to dispose of the sludge. It is cautioned that there are a number of variables, such as unknown underground water movement which could impact on the success of this program. To date (1982), more than $2 million has been spent on the Deloro arsenic control project and Mr. Ramshaw (Ontario Ministry of the Environment), estimates it will cost about $200,000. per year to operate the water treatment facility.

Letters to the editor

Poem sums up the plight of seniors

"They give our millions every day
 And borrow millions, too.
 Soon this old country will be lost
 I know it's sad but true.
 The guys who run our country
 They draw a big fat pay,
 And run this country on their own
 We have nothing to say,"
 Paddy Whalen

This letter is written on behalf of the over 300 seniors who belong to the Diners Club of Community Care Northumberland, the Trent Hills branch.
 Upon reading a poem written by Paddy Whalen of Stocco, called "Who Can Save Canada?" a discussion ensued. It was decided that I should write and share their feelings.

The poem (part shown above) was written by a man who was a builder and who built many of the buildings in the Stocco and Tweed downtown area back in the 1950s. He loved to hunt wild game for pelts and sell them. He loved his country, writing many poems about it.

As I read this poem to my clients they said, "it's the same today." The poem sums up the feelings of all of us. The Canadian seniors of today are being pushed to the limit with high rent and high property taxes, along with their pension being taxed.

It is time the Government of Canada changed its way of thinking and listened to those who have loved and worked hard for this country. One fair way to address this problem is to allow those who live on the income from the Canada Pension to receive it "tax free." In that way, they would have more "take home" to enjoy their retirement. Instead, for many, they must sell their homes because there isn't enough money to pay their taxes. You must agree. With reference to party politics, it is time, I am sure you agree Mr. Macklin, that all politicians start to work together as a whole for the betterment of Canadian seniors in their retirement years.

We would appreciate hearing your thoughts on this.

Diane Provost, Co-ordinator, Community Care.

Warkworth a great reason to visit area

Recently I had the fortune of visiting some family for the first time since they moved to Trent Hills and was quite impressed with your community. For my tourist dollars, I loved the waterway in Campbellford and the Hastings Marina, but the little Village of Warkworth will keep me returning to this area for many years to come. Growing up in Unionville I can't help but see the similarities with your Village of Warkworth. While I found the rest of Trent Hills to be beautiful it held little in the way of surprises. I was bowled over by the progressive minded people of Warkworth.

All nestled within one short block, I was able to: enjoy a hip coffee experience at the Supreme Bean, sample great organic food at Ambrosia, enjoy a great mix of art at the Paul Portelli Gallery and have my first oxygen experience (which I must for the record relate that I felt great and slept even better that night!) at The Star Treatment.

I was even more impressed that the store owners are so positive about their community. I saw each and every one spending a great deal of time bringing all visitors to their store up to date on the downtown happenings. I'm looking very much forward to the next time I return to Warkworth where I was told that in addition to the already fine store fronts that occupy the street I can look forward to "The Lion Heart Home Bakery", Metaphor Home, Frantic Farms & a working artist co-op aptly titled, "The Studio". See you all in a few weeks!

Impaired drivers charged

Northumberland OPP is gearing up for the Canada Road Safety Week that started earlier this week and runs until holiday Monday. This past weekend, officers have been involved in investigations that lead to impaired charges being laid against three drivers.

On Saturday morning at 2:30 am officers received a report of an erratic driver on the eastbound 401 near Cobourg. The report was that a 2000 Grand Am had struck the guardrails and continued on. The vehicle was located and 47-year-old Derek Friedrich of Cobourg was charged with over 80 mgs.

At 11 pm on Saturday officers were called to a two-vehicle accident on Shelter Valley Road near Grafton. Both drivers were taken to Northumberland Hills Hospital with none life threatening injuries. As a result of the accident 39-year-old Patrick Barron of Alnwick-Haldimand Twp. was charged with impaired driving.

At 2 am Sunday morning a Volkswagen Jetta struck the rear of a parked car on Mill Street in the Village of Warkworth. As a result of the investigation 20-year-old Michael Simons of Hastings was charged with impaired driving.

How to Professionally Finish Wood in Your Home

(MS) – Refinishing your wood floors, furniture and other woodwork is much easier than most people imagine -- you just have to go about it one step at a time.

According to Eric Chaimberg of Swing Paints, Canada's leading manufacturer of wood-finishing products, professional finishing results can be achieved if you follow several important steps.

Based on years of experience and know-how, Chaimberg says the secret to a great finish is a good start. And the best way to ensure a good finish is by taking the time to prepare your surface properly.

Here is a host of items Chaimberg says you will need prior to beginning any project:

- Bristle or foam brushes
- Rags or cheese cloth
- Steel wool or synthetic pads

- Gloves
- Drop cloth

SURFACE PREPARATION

For previously finished wood surfaces, Chaimberg recommends you use a cleaner, such as Circa 1850 Furniture Cleaner, to remove all dirt, grime, wax and polish from the wood. Any repairs, such as filling nail holes or dents, should be completed after stripping but before sanding and staining. Remove dirt and grime on floors with a vacuum cleaner. And, finally, wipe down the surface with a damp cloth to eliminate all traces of dust.

SANDING

The next step is to lightly sand the wood to provide a smooth, uniform surface. "Sand enough to obtain the desired finish smoothness, yet not enough to gouge the wood or sand through the veneer," Chaimberg says. Stripping closes the grain of the wood to the penetration of stain and finish. Sanding reopens the grain, even out any discoloration that may have been left by a previous stain, and erases any scratches or blemishes in the surface.

FINISHING

To add a protective finish to your surface, Chaimberg recommends using Circa 1850 Fast Dry Bowling Alley Polyurethane. "Apply this clear finish to those tired old floors or that newly stripped flea market find and you'll appreciate how fast it dries," he adds. "It dries so fast you can re-coat in as little as two hours. Imagine being able to apply three coats in just one day."

On unfinished wood, thin your first coat with 10 percent mineral spirits. Stir contents thoroughly prior to and during application. Never shake the contents. Wipe or brush on a thin coat of Circa 1850 Bowling Alley Polyurethane using a lint-free cloth, a pure bristle brush or a lambskin applicator. Apply evenly with long strokes in the direction of the grain. Allow to dry for at least two hours, and sand lightly using very fine sandpaper or steel wool. Remove all dust, and apply a second coat as above. If a third coat is desired, re-sand and apply as above.

"Because of its non-yellowing clear formula, all you'll see is the beauty of the wood shining through," Chaimberg says. "And your wood surface will be protected with the same hard, durable finish used on bowling alleys." For more information or tips on finishing, visit www.circa1850.com.

Did You Know?

Many home-improvement projects are unsuitable for expectant mothers. Painting exposes you to fumes as well as requires a lot of bending, stretching and climbing ladders. Any project that involves using a product with strong fumes should be avoided, which often means no staining or clear coating. Also, avoid projects that require heavy lifting, which could strain your back and womb. It can be frustrating being relegated to the sofa instead of hands-on with the project. But, it's okay tackle safe tasks like planning, choosing color swatches and supervising the work.

Deck it Right: Improving the Useful Life of Your Deck

(MS) -- Homeowners face a new challenge when it comes to getting the expected useful life out of their decks. The corrosive effects of new pressure-treating chemicals for wood leave deck builders and owners facing a new array of challenges.

Because of the potential for adverse environmental and health effects, traditional arsenic based CCA (Chromated Copper Arsenate) treatments can no longer be used in wood for residential construction. The new wood preservatives that have replaced CCA are expected to be safer and more environmentally sensitive; however, they are more corrosive. These new pressure-treatment chemicals accelerate the corrosion of the galvanized metal components used on exterior decks (i.e. connectors, fasteners, joist hangers, etc.) which can result in costly repairs and, in some cases, can threaten the deck's structural integrity.

Replacing or repairing a deck is an expensive undertaking, making it imperative that homeowners and contractors take necessary preventative measures during the early stages of a deck's construction. Educated consumers should ask their contractors to install Grace Vycor(R) Deck Protector(R) from Grace Construction Products, a unique approach to address accelerated corrosion and help maintain the expected useful life of decks.

For a small initial investment homeowners can minimize the risk that accelerated corrosion will threaten the longevity and safety of their decks and potentially save time and money on repairs or replacement.

"Grace Vycor Deck Protector provides an easy, reliable and inexpensive solution to the corrosive effects of new wood treatment chemicals," said Lawrence S. Shapiro, Grace's residential business director. "Grace Vycor Deck Protector is a self-adhered membrane used in areas where galvanized steel comes into contact with pressure-treated wood forming a barrier between the chemical containing wood and the galvanized metal. Furthermore, the sealing nature of the product reduces the corrosive effects of the new chemicals on fasteners even though the fasteners are often installed through the membrane into the wood itself."

While certain fasteners and connectors are treated with higher levels of galvanizing to address the effects of the new wood treatment chemicals, the additional galvanizing does not change the corrosion mechanism or reduce the rate of corrosion. Grace Vycor Deck productor is the only product on the market with testing that shows a reduction in the corrosion rate to the same level as with CCA wood.

Builders and consumers should be advised that only hot dipped galvanized fasteners should be used with Grace Vycor Deck Protector and that the fasteners and connectors are approved by their manufacturer for use with pressure treated wood.

Jeremiah dominated the midjet javelin launching a winning throw of 44.2 metres.

Jocelyn Jobin placed second in the midjet girls javelin with a throw of 21.9 metres while the midjet boys 400 m relay team of Jordan Toms, Oliver, Chad Nolan and James Moore clocked in at 51.50 seconds to take second as well.

Tyler Oliver claimed third in the senior triple jump with a leap of 22.70 metres.

Fourth place finishes went to Melissa Cureton, junior 800 metres, and Susan Ellis, junior javelin with 21.90 m.

Coming home with fifth place

Bobby Lackey placed sixth in the junior 300 hurdles with seventh place ribbons to Laura Millar, senior 100 hurdles; Moore, midjet 100 m hurdles; Will Cameron, junior discus; Whitney Page, senior javelin and the junior girls 400 m relay team of Ellis, Whitmore, Cureton and Brittney Darrington (58.90).

The final COSSA qualifying spots went to Gary Stephens, junior javelin; Cameron, junior shot put and the junior boys 400 m relay team of Cameron, Stephens, Ronnie Hughes and Derek Pearce (52.90).

B-ball teams need for 3-on-3 tourney

Colborne - Free throws and jump shots will hold court on King Street in Colborne May 28 as outdoor basketball hits the pavement for the upcoming Apple Blossom Tyme Festival.

The three-on-three basketball tournament is part of this year's Apple Blossom Tyme Festival. The festival in Colborne features many activities that mark spring and the start of apple growing season. Organizers of the three-on-three tourney hope to attract teams of youth between the ages of 14 to 17 years to play in both male and female divisions.

"Our goal is to turn part of King Street in Colborne into a hoop haven for an afternoon," says Jennifer Valcamp, a Health Promoter with Health for Life, which is organizing the basketball tourney in partnership with Cramahe Township's Parks & Recreation Department.

Ms. Valcamp says the three-on-three tourney will help encourage physical activity among the participants and promote a friendly competition between teams.

"It's a great chance to see youth get active and demonstrate their basketball prowess on the court, rather than playing it on a video game," she says

The main task for organizers now is signing up teams for the tournament. Teams are allowed a maximum of four players and are guaranteed a minimum of two games. The tournament itself is a double-elimination format, with each game lasting 15 minutes in length or until a team reaches 21 points. For an entry fee of $20 a team, players receive free T-shirts and water. Prize packages will also go to the winning teams in each division.

The tourney runs from noon until 4 pm.

Teams must register by May 25. Call the health unit at 613-475-0933 to register or for more info.

Your Healthy Mind

Fear Of Flying (etc)

Phobias about all kinds of things are messing up people's lives. These involuntary fears arise mostly from anxiety about common activities. The resulting need to avoid certain objects or situations can make it difficult for us to lead a normal life. Being aware that these fears are illogical does nothing to relieve our anxiety. So it's very important to understand that phobias are medical disorders - not signs of weakness or self-indulgence.

Fear of flying, of heights, of water, of tunnels, is common. As long as we can handle it, all is well. If fear incapacitates us, we need help. Likewise about snakes and spiders, blood, germs, or dark closets. Some phobias disable people afraid of social situations in which they may be expected to talk in public or join in a dinner-table discussion. The fear of being among a large crowd, especially if we might be unable to escape, commonly accompanies panic disorders.

A phobia about something can become a serious mental health condition. It can also disrupt family life or interfere with work activities. There are several ways to treat phobias, so it is important to get professional advice before the fear takes over entirely. Family and friends can also be supportive by learning about the disorder and becoming sensitive to a person's needs.

The Canadian Mental Health Association can help. Call 613-969-8874 or visit our web site at www.hastings-cmh.ca

"The joint efforts of our councils to further develop this location to attract businesses will be a benefit to our communities now and in the future," said Madoc Deputy Reeve Mike Sniderhan. "I look forward to continuing the collaborative work already begun with Centre Hastings."

Attention Well Owners Pine Veau Fracturing

Hydro Fracturing is the process of using water under extreme pressure to break the barrier that is preventing an underground water source from flowing freely into a well. This is not a new technology; the process has been used in oil fields for some 95 years. The technology is new to the water-well industry. This machine fractures the underground rock and opens up the fissures already existing in the rock.

Highly Technical Machine. The high-pressure components for our machines have come directly from the oil fields. The machine produces over 6000 psi (pounds per square inch) and pumps up to 200 GPM (gallons per minute), creating an extremely high pressure in the well. The extreme high pressure opens blocked water veins, producing a higher output well. By fracturing an existing drilled well, we can improve the flow of the well, even if the well is considered dry, or has gone dry after many productive years. To fracture an existing well, there is no mess of digging up lawns or cutting asphalt driveways to hook up pump in new wells. The cost of drilling a new well can be considerable, with no guarantee of increasing the present GPM. To increase our success to 99%, we have developed a system called a double packer, where we can isolate a zone 12-20 ft. by blocking an area top and bottom, then put a pipe with holes in it between our packers. No pressure can go beyond the two packers. This allows us to open up more areas in the wells called aquifers. This system can also be used in wells where an area of bad water exists. We can go above and below where good water is found. For example, if salt or sulphur is found at the bottom of a well it can be plugged up and we can fracture nearer the top in the rock where water quality is better.

Avoid Unnecessary Cost. If you have an existing well or are considering drilling a new well...WE can save you money! In 99% of all new wells once considered dry that we have hydro-fractured, we have found water between 50 ft. - 300 ft.

Protect Your Investment. A piece of land, a home or a business is of no value without water. The cost of this service can be measured in more than the dollar value...water is absolutely necessary to life itself.

Re-enactors add drama to Lang opening

By Bill Freeman

Lang: High school and professional re-enactors added dramatic flair to the opening of Lang Pioneer Village's season.

Under the direction of Norwood District High history teacher Norm Vandenberg, 75 students joined 50 professional re-enactors in a day of drills, fashion displays and a mock battle emphasizing that over 50,000 Canadians participated in the Civil War -- 45,532 on the Union side; 30 would win the Congressional Medal of Honour.

Mr. Vandenberg's group has been at Lang before, usually before opening day, so this was a special occasion for the living history site.

"It's a good opportunity for our summer staff to experience this," Lang general manager Joe Corrigan says. "It's been a good partnership with Norm and they put on a good show."

Mr. Corrigan says the 25 acre, 32 venue site has "made a number of changes to format" but welcomes back favourite events starting with the 9th annual Father's Day Smoke and Steam show on June 19. That is followed by a more robust Dominion Day celebration complete with Queen Victoria impersonator.

The biggest event of the season is the Transportation Day and Car show July 10. It is expected to attract 250 antique vehicles.

There won't be special events every Sunday but one of the things Mr. Corrigan is excited about is the exploration of the rich history of music in Peterborough County.

"We're not having as many events this summer," says Mr. Corrigan, "but one of the themes we're working on the musical history of the County.

"There will be music at most of the events and we hope to build on those musical themes."

Musician Al Kirby is helping arrange workshops and seminars and visitors can expect to see busking musicians wandering around the Village.

Golf Club Cleaning Tips

A big part of golf is braving the elements. You deal with the sun, a sudden rainstorm and a little mud on your feet. All of those weather-related conditions can do a number on your body, not to mention your clubs. While you can take a shower to clean up, your golf clubs can't! So don't forget about cleaning them: They'll last longer, perform more efficiently, and they won't get you dirty!

To clean them, you can buy a golf club cleaning kit at most golf pro shops. But you can also easily do it yourself with a plastic bucket, a mild dishwashing detergent, an old toothbrush or a nonwire-bristle brush and a clean towel or rag.

First, fill the bucket with a little detergent and warm (not hot) water so it becomes sudsy. Add enough water to the bucket to cover the heads of the clubs. Submerge only the clubheads in water, making sure not to get the ferrules wet, which will damage the finish. Soak for a few minutes to loosen any dirt that may be stuck in the grooves and to get rid of any remaining oils and chemicals. Then scrub each club with a soft- or medium-bristled brush to remove excess dirt, grass stains and other debris from the clubface. If you are having difficulty removing the dirt, soak and scrub the clubs a second time.

Now rinse them off with water, either using a garden hose if you are outdoors, or a sink faucet if indoors, making sure not to get their shafts wet. Inspect the clubs to make sure their grooves are dirt free. Then dry the clubheads and shafts with the clean cloth or rag.

Now you can enjoy using your clean clubs once again. It's not guaranteed that you'll get a hole in one, but at least you know they are clean!

Pioneer Village has lots in store this year

The summer ends with the popular Village by Lantern (Aug. 27-28) which people like because "senses are heightened" and the smell of coal oil and baking appears so much more pronounced.

The Pioneer Corn Roast Sept. 4, Applefest Sept. 18 and the Autumn Harvest Oct. 2 lead into an expanded "Spooky Halloween" scheduled for two weekends (Oct. 14-15 and 21-22) depending on the weather.

Christmas by Candlelight (Dec. 3-4) combines the Village's traditional Christmas event and an evening of caroling and festive cheer.

One key development at the Village is the restoration of a Jacquard loom by D.D.A. Shwartz, a master weaver and expert in the construction and restoration of old looms who lives in the Lakefield area.

"It is going to be a marquee attraction for us and will give us a unique offering. The goal is to make this the best place in North America to see a working Jacquard loom."

There are only five on display in the world and Mr. Corrigan says the plan is to have it on a platform with steps so people can watch it in full operation. It will be housed in a building designed to look like a 1890's weaver's shop complete with modern interpretative space. The Jacquard loom doesn't just appeal to weavers, he says, but also to people interested in computer technology. Joseph Jacquard's loom was the first to use binary code technology and opened the way for the Industrial Revolution. Jacquard perfected a process that used punch cards, much like old computers, and was able to produce very intricate patterns. The Village's own loom is from the 1880's but uses mechanical heads from the 1840's charting the "move from the artisan to the factory."

The Jacquard loom was "a quantum leap" from previous forms.

"There is a real interesting spectrum of socio-economic history represented by the loom," Mr. Corrigan says.

They have raised $40,000 for the project. If things go well they hope to have the project finished by the end of the 2006 season.

"It is going to be a big development in the history of the museum. We will be able to offer loom education programs that are unique in North America."

"Being able to interact with people who are familiar with the old ways and to see things they have done is unique. A lot of people want to live in virtual reality and in a lot of ways living history is a forerunner to that."

Things like re-enactments are "old style virtual reality."

Lane Village is 10 km east of Peterborough on Highway 134. For more information you can call 1-866-289-5284 or visit www.langpioneerillage.ca.

tion as well.

"They are good, well deserving people," the new Coordinator says families are in desperate need; some working two or more minimum wage jobs, trying to make ends meet, but it is an impossible task that keeps spiralling. "Some families are trying to live on $800 or $900 a month and after rent and utilities, there is no money left for food. I don't know how many of them do it."

"The cheques just run out. We need to be able to top up their pantries," Anne Barry, says that for many, climbing the stairs to the Food Bank is one of the hardest climbs they have ever made. It is with hard breaths that many count the steps for survival for their families. When people live on little dollars coming into the home, Barry says, no credit counsellor can make a dollar stretch that far.

Anne Barry has worked with the Board of Education, previously for 33 years and Big Brothers and Sisters. "I wanted to do something different, challenging, as well as worthwhile."

"It is a bit unnerving when the shelves start to get down," She admits that the challenge is great and has already experienced the tightening in her stomach as she looks at Food Bank's own pantry dwindling. However, she remains as determined as the dedicated Board of Directors, she has had the pleasure of working with for merely 6 weeks. With the help of an empathetic community, the upcoming fundraiser and ideas, she is determined to make it a better and easier place for families to prosper and grow, to give them an extended hand up.

The upcoming dance with Mike E & the Hound Dogs" is the major fundraiser for Central Hastings Support Services and it is hoped that not only will it provide great entertainment, but a supportive footing for families in the area.

The Central Hastings Support Network is open Monday - Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Fridays from 9 a.m. - noon.

Anyone who would like to donate to the Food Bank can leave items at the IGA; their church or at the Central Hastings Support Services. Good healthy foods are desperately needed to stock the pantry of the Food Bank; peanut butter, canned soups, stews or dollars are always appreciated for the Food Bank to buy what is lacking.

"It is not easy to walk the steps to the third floor," the new Coordinator speaks with a great amount of respect for those who are able to take those steps for their families.

Breastfeeding clinic will continue

Cobourg—Breastfeeding is best and that's the message that will continue to echo through the halls of the Northumberland Hills Hospital.

A partnership between the Cobourg-based hospital and the local Health Unit means an important on-site breastfeeding clinic for parents of newborn babies will continue to be offered. Family Health Nurses from the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit will now staff the clinic, which provides advice and support to new parents on breastfeeding their babies.

In recent months, the hospital has been reviewing its services to find cost efficiencies in order to meet a provincial requirement to balance its 2006 budget. Instead of closing the clinic, hospital officials say the partnership with the Health Unit ensures a "quality care" service is maintained.

"The transition has gone very smoothly and we are pleased to continue offering this valuable service for parents and their newborns," says Mary Anne Shill, Vice-President of Patient Services with the hospital.

It is within the Health Unit's mandate to promote and support breastfeeding, so "the partnership is an excellent example of how health care providers can work together to benefit the community," says Diane Dingman, the Family Health Supervisor with the Health Unit.

Under the agreement, Family Health Nurses with the Health Unit will staff the breastfeeding clinic and provide on-site support and advice to parents. In addition, the Health Unit's Lactation Consultant will be directly involved in supporting the clinic. The breastfeeding facility will also be promoted in Year of Firsts in formation pack the Health Unit in Northumberland. Parents who information or concerns about can call the Health Unit speak to a Family Health Unit. Appointments also be arranged by Health Unit.

Blackleg

Blackleg causes sudden death in young, fast-growing cattle. This disease can hit without warning; your best 500 lb. calf may be found dead on pasture with no prior signs of illness. Blackleg is caused by Clostridium chauvoei. (The same "family" of bacteria that cause tetanus and botulism.) This bacterium is unique because it can survive in the soil for decades by forming a tough weather-resistant coating or spore.

Soil disturbances caused by excavations, tilling, building sites or new deep ditches may activate spores that have been dormant since your great grandparents farmed.

Affected animals may show sudden, severe lameness due to a huge gangrenous swelling of the leg muscles. (Hence, blackleg.) Clostridial diseases such as blackleg are so fast and deadly because the bacteria produce large amounts of toxin. This toxin or poison spreads throughout the body and will cause death within 12 to 36 hours.

Now the good news: Blackleg does not affect cattle over 2 years of age. We can prevent blackleg with vaccination. Blackleg vaccines continue to be one of the great bargains of the veterinary world. Blackleg vaccine is usually given in late spring/early summer to give protection in the high risk, hot summer months.

Both dairy and beef animals on pasture are at risk to blackleg. Please call Campbellford Veterinary Services if you would like to discuss protecting your youngstock against this disease.

Down On The Farm

Agricultural conference to look at global issues

Guelph—The Canadian Association of Farm Advisors (CAFA) will host its first annual Ontario Provincial Conference May 26th at the Holiday Inn in Guelph. The conference theme is "Global perspectives in agriculture and its impact on Ontario."

Following on this theme, speakers will discuss the global agricultural situation and what it means for both Ontario farmers and the farm advisors who work with them.

Speakers will include Victor Aideyan with Farms.com discussing risk management; Al Musell of the George Morris Centre investigating current definitions and expectations in agriculture and Bob Desautels of the Arrow Neighborhood Pub Group describing the firm's success at building local brands.

Former Agricultural Minister Lyle Vanciel will be the keynote luncheon speaker, talking about global agricultural development. The afternoon will feature two breakout sessions with four different workshops. Dr. John Fast will wrap up the day by addressing family needs in farm transition.

This is an excellent opportunity for farm advisors, who wish to improve their knowledge and skills, to hear a number of excellent speakers and also to network with other professionals. Further details on the Conference Agenda can be found on the CAFA website at www.cafanet.com under "Upcoming Conferences."

CAFA is a national, not-for-profit professional umbrella organization dedicated to assisting farm businesses by increasing the skills and knowledge of farm advisors.

Member advisors come from many professional backgrounds including accountants, lenders, financial planners, lawyers, insurance agents, human resource consultants, agrologists and private consultants.

CAFA organizes local chapters that meet on a regular basis to hear speakers talk on agriculture policy, news and issues or share their particular expertise with the group. The meetings also offer an excellent opportunity to network with other professionals advising farm clients and get to know who can offer what expertise.

Any questions about the event or how to register can be directed to CAFA's head office at 1-877-474-2871 or e-mail info@cafanet.com.

4-H farm smart expo

Guelph—The second annual 4-H FarmSmart Expo Day, will be held July 14 at the Elora Research Station of the University of Guelph.

The event will feature "learn in the field" on growing wheat, corn, and soybean crops, along with an introduction to environmental solutions on your farm, discovering soil (view and learn from a soil pit), what can you learn about pastures and grazing, keeping healthy livestock and others.

The day will run from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and parents are encouraged to attend with their children. More information will be available on the 4-H website shortly.

4-H members and parents/chaperones are encouraged to register early. Lunch and refreshments will be served. Costs for the day are $15/member. To register, please call 1-877-424-1300 by July 8th, 2005.

Field Crops 4-H goes into action

By Meaghan Mack

Havelock—On May 2nd, the Norwood Field Crops 4-H Club gathered at our leader Dean Warner's home to begin our year. We began our evening by introducing ourselves and reciting the 4-H Pledge. The 4-H members of this club all live in the Havelock, Norwood and Hastings area in Peterborough County and range in ages of 10 - 21 years old.

Then we held our elections of officers and they are as follows:

President: Justin Crowley
 Vice President: Stephanie Warner

Secretary: Amanda Buck
 Press Reporter: Meaghan Mack

After our elections, we discussed the vegetable and field crops classes that the Norwood Fall Fair has for this year and the possibility participating in some of the classes in the field crops section. We discussed some of the diseases and viruses that occur on vegetables.

And then after that interesting discussion we were given a book called "Field Crops, Weeds, Insects and Diseases" which talk about weeds, insects and diseases that damage the crops. After that we read a skit called the "Field Crop Soap Opera".

Dean also reminded us of the mandatory Junior Day preparation at 7:00 PM on July 5 at Bill and Juanita Elmhurst's farm.

The meeting was adjourned by Justin and seconded by Ryan Crowley

Refreshments and snacks were provided thanks to the Warner family.

Our next meeting will be at the Steele's farm on May 29, 2005.

for another election battle and "new faces on the executive as well as those running for the nomination show that the local party is strong. People are offended by the unwarranted slurs against those who were far removed from the activities now being investigated by the inquiry ordered by Paul Martin."

Liberal Riding Association President Agnes Thompson says, "People are beginning to see through the Conservative push for an early election. The 'Reformers' within the Conservative party want to be able to sling enough mud to obscure the issues, thinking it's likely the only way to get elected and push their right wing agenda through Parliament."

The Liberal Party nearly won the last election in the re-shaped Prince Edward-Hastings riding with first-time Liberal candidate Bruce Knutson. Knutson has decided not to run in this spring's possible election and the association is leaving it up to candidates for the nomination to announce their intentions while doing preparatory work to support the campaign whenever it happens.

A new web site for the Prince Edward-Hastings Federal Liberal Association will soon be providing more details. People who want more information will find contact numbers there and in the interim can call Bill Jensen at 613-9673916 or Agnes Thompson at 613-395-2096.

capacity, read the scriptures, and Rev. Heather Sandford preached on "Walking with the Light." She also offered a children's story to the younger worshippers who led the whole church in singing "This Little Light of Mine."

Heather noted that the fraternity of Freemasonry is an organization that shares its light and love with the world and encourages members to be loyal to God, family, church, and Masonic Lodge. Freemasonry is the oldest and largest world-wide fraternity dedicated to the Brotherhood of Man under the Fatherhood of a Supreme Being. Although of a religious nature, Freemasonry is not a religion, but encourages its members to be faithful and devoted to their own religious beliefs. Rev. Sandford noted that this particular service was Christian in nature, although there are many other religious denominations who are involved in the Freemasonry movement, whose origins can be traced to the middle Ages, when Masons of outstanding character and high ideals built the cathedrals, abbeys and castles at that time. With the decline of cathedral building in the 17th century, many guilds of stonemasons called "Operative" masons, started to accept into their membership those who were not members of the masons' craft and called them "Speculative" or "Accepted" masons and this was the beginning of the Freemasonry movement of lodges that we know of today. The fraternity does not conceal its existence, purpose, aims or principles and Masonic Lodges and emblems are seen in a variety of places, with many members wearing Masonic insignia on rings or pins.

In fact, the present Grandmaster of Ontario, Don Mumby, is encouraging Freemasons to become more open in their communities with the hope of attracting more members, and dissolving the air of secrecy that has been associated with Freemasonry. There are about 64,000 Masons in Ontario with 630 lodges in 46 districts. There are 14 lodges in the Prince Edward district which extends from Belleville to Brighton and from Bancroft to Picton. Each district has a particular fund-raising project and this year the Prince Edward District is fund raising for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS or Lou Gehrig's disease) by raffling off an all-terrain vehicle with trailer. Other prizes include a weekend in the Niagara region. In Ontario the fraternity donates in excess of $3 million dollars to charitable causes annually. District Deputy Grand Master Eric Sandford notes that the purpose of Freemasonry is to make good men better, and it teaches that each person has an obligation to make a difference for good. Although Freemasons are male, females with a connection to the fraternity may join The Order of the Eastern Star.

Trinity is thankful to all who made the worship service such a tribute to God and particularly is appreciative of the many who provided delicious light refreshments following the service, making for a wonderful time of fellowship, and an opportunity to share the light and love of God, and to celebrate God's presence. Trinity meets regularly at 11:00 every Sunday morning, and on Sunday June 5, Rev. Canon Jim Thompson will be the anniversary guest speaker, and all are invited to attend and re-new acquaintance with Canon Thompson who served in the area some years ago.

Piper, District Worshipful Brother Donald Greer and James Clarke led the parade down the main street of Madoc to the Trinity United Church.

The Mason's apron is not only a symbol ever reminding him of the duty of maintaining to the utmost possible degree Purity of heart and Purity of life, and of ever seeking greater perfection in both, but also of propitiation for sin, and the pardon ready to be granted to every one who seeks it in the way appointed. It thus inspires him to work with hope, and that hope further encourages to further endeavors after those attainments which will make him a good man and a good Mason, exercising an influence for good amongst all around him - in the Lodge, in his own family, and it all the relations of life.

Brian and Sheldon Moorcroft kept the beat of the drums as the parade stepped 60 beats a minute.

Blue is the symbol of truth and universality. It is the color appropriate to the First Three Degrees, or Ancient Craft Masonry, and the curtains, cushions, etc. of a Lodge are therefore blue.

OPP officers were out in force on the weekend doing their best to make sure the Victoria Day weekend was a safe one for everyone. Along the way they came in contact with a few, shall we say, unruly looking characters. Show up at the entrance to Trudeau Park sporting a Mohawk and riding a chopper and you're bound to be asked a few questions. This particular individual however, proved to be completely on the up and up. Looking forward to their Oscar nominations for best supporting actors in a comedic role are officers Jeff Brooks from the OPP Central Hastings detachment, Kevin Postma from Quinte West and Rob Gardner from Central Hastings. Up for best actor is 10 year old Travis (I'm doing my best not to smile) Geisel of Bancroft. Thanks to everyone involved for being such good sports. Photo - Terry Bush

Fight Ends in Stabbing at Madoc Township

OPP Report

Madoc Township - A simple trip to the Madoc food bank ended in a stabbing after a series of events.

Around 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, May 18th two men went to pick up some food from a social service agency. Police became aware that the men were together despite a court order prohibiting them from associating with each other. A search of several homes was made but only one of the men, Mark Shwedo, was located.

At approximately 5:00 p.m. the same day, the second man, Theodore "Ed" Burns, became angry that Shwedo had spoken to police and a fight started. Burns struck Shwedo multiple times until Shwedo picked up a knife and stabbed Burns in the leg.

Shwedo suffered bruises and swelling to several places on his body. Burns suffered a stab wound to his leg. Both parties were taken to Belleville General Hospital for treatment of their injuries.

Mark Shwedo, age 44, of Madoc Township, is charged with Aggravated Assault and is being held in custody. Theodore "Ed" Burns, age 46, of Scarborough, is charged with assault and four counts of breach of a court order and is being held in custody. Both Shwedo and Burns were to appear in Belleville court for a bail hearing on May 19th, 2005.

Well known Anglican Clergyman Rev. Cannon Jim Thompson to preach at Trinity United

at Madoc Trinity United Church

By Rev. E. Jean Brown

Well known Anglican clergyman Rev. Cannon Jim Thompson will be preaching the Madoc Trinity United Church anniversary service on Sunday June 5 at 11:00 AM and all are invited to attend. Canon Thompson served the three Anglican churches in our area some years ago and is well known by all people. As well, he is the brother of Dennis Thompson, who sings with the Trinity chorists and the Madoc Men's Chorus under the direction of Ron Moffatt and Norma Sedgwick-Taylor; so on that Sunday Dennis and his brother Jim will both be at Trinity taking part. Dennis through music and Jim through preaching, The St. John's Anglican singers and the Trinity chorists are teaming up to provide some special music and a musical concert will precede the service starting at 10:30, and it will also feature the ecumenical Madoc Men's Chorus. So, that Sunday holds in store many special features that will glorify our God.

Canon Thompson conducted marriage services for many well known area couples, who are invited to return and renew acquaintance, worship, and enjoy light refreshments following the service downstairs at Trinity.

As well, Canon Thompson, over the years, baptized, confirmed, provided pastoral care, conducted funerals and in so doing served God by leading others into a deeper relationship with God. At a time of anniversary, the church looks back, remembering the value of the faith we have received and the ways our lives have been touched, moulded and influenced by those who have served and challenged us to live by Christian principles. The church also looks to the future, ever sensitive to changing situations, and ever mindful of God's Holy Spirit urging us into moments of insight, and new understandings. The Spirit of God, that invisible Presence that inspires, moulds, changes our hearts and leads us ever forward continues to challenge and inspire the church and its peoples today to be the body of Jesus Christ, to live in the power of the Holy Spirit, and to love into being a new and vibrant world.

The United Church of Canada was founded on June 10, 1925 when the Methodist Church in Canada, the Congregational Union of Canada, and 70 per cent of the Presbyterian Church in Canada entered into an organic union. Joining as well was the small General Council of Union Churches, centred largely in Western Canada. Prior to the building of the national railway system that was designed to unite Canada, these church leaders met to formulate plans for churches to be created in the many towns and cities that sprang up along the railway line. As well there were concerns for serving the religious needs of the Canadian northwest, and the desire to provide better overseas mission, and mission within Canada without so many church buildings - all of which could be better accomplished by the individual churches combining in their efforts. The United Church is a uniting and a united church, willing to serve God, to risk, explore, and to look to the

The identity of The United Church of Canada has never been primarily within the denomination, since the very founding involved relinquishing denominational identity by the three founding churches and the congregational Union. These 4 groups took the risk of combining to form the United Church of Canada, and so set the stage for further unions, and for looking forward. The deepest and truest identity of the UCC is risking following Jesus Christ as He crosses the boundaries that alienate and divide people.

So, do come and be part of our anniversary celebrations and worship God with happy hearts and expectant minds.

Matthew will be organizing material including maps of walk areas, kits for sponsorships, providing the pink ribbons to be worn by survivors, seeing name tags are prepared, letters to possible food/beverage donors, laminating sheets with sponsors names and logos.

The group plans to meet again in the William Shannon Memorial Room Friday, July 8 at 3 p.m. to update plans for the event with participants from Tweed, Madoc, Marmora, in Marmora Memorial Park October 1st.

Freedom should never be taken for granted

This letter first appeared in the Marmora Herald and Havelock Citizen last week, written by the editor, Nancy Derrer. It is a touching reminder that Freedom should never be taken for granted.

Veteran Gord Maybe of Havelock attended the Dutch Liberation Day ceremonies for the first time in 2005, accompanied by his granddaughter. He was overwhelmed when a "young lad" ran up to the back of the half-track in which he was riding in a parade and said, "Please, I want you to have this."

It was a carefully typed letter enclosed in a plastic sleeve to prevent it from getting wet in the steady downpour.

Hello I am Maarten van Oort and I am 11 years old. I think you are very kind people. And I have much respect for you. Just like my grandpa. He is also a veteran and 86-years old. I want to tell something about my grandpa.

He tells most of the times stories about "W.O.2. My grandpa doesn't remember what happened five minutes ago, but he can tell exactly what happened 60 years ago. He tells stories about the fight between the Netherlands and Germany. There are some funny parts but also scary parts in the story. And when he tells his story, we realize what freedom means. And that freedom a special thing is. Most parts of the world doesn't know what freedom is. And if I see you Canadian veterans, then I'm very proud and thankful. My grandpa will be standing between the crowd today on the 5th of May and you will be passing by on the old military vehicles. Well this was our letter.

Goodbye, God bless you and have a nice tour

Of all the veterans walking or riding in all the parades in Holland, Mr. Maybe was astounded at the odds of him receiving Maarten's letter of thanks. It capped off his trip. Mr. Maybe plans to write Maarten and tell him how much his letter meant to him.

In sharing it with the communities, Mr. Maybe has widened the circle, reminding the communities of the importance of our Veterans.

REMEMBER WHEN....Wed. January 9, 1980

Mr. Jim Martin, recently renovating the old Hawthorne house, discovered in the wall's insulation, the following finds: an old straw hat, a woman's shoe, the cardboard can pictured on the left, and old papers and documents. Most were in great disrepair, however, one document could be read to be a legal paper, with the legible signatures below of "John" and "Cornelius". A Kingston daily paper, and a Christian Almanac or Bible were also found, but too badly damaged to be handled for information. He has kept the findings, hoping that someone would be able to explain them.

At the time of the article, the house was known to be 121 years old. It would have been built therefore, about 1859. The items would have been placed in that time frame.

Letters to the editor

Motorists should be safety conscious carrying loads

ORILLIA---With the arrival of spring, it's not uncommon to see an increase in vehicles hauling trailers, boats and other recreational equipment on roads and highways. So the OPP wants to make sure that motorists who are hauling even the lightest load behind their vehicle do so with safety in mind:

Before you head out on the road, make sure that all your lights are working, and this is equally important for daytime driving as it is at night. Ideally, a tow vehicle should be as heavy, if not heavier, than the load being towed, and keep in mind that a longer wheelbase on a tow vehicle helps keep the tow vehicle from being pushed around by your loaded trailer.

Your hitch is an important factor in safe hauling, therefore make absolutely sure that your hitch is safe and your safety chain properly fastened. The last thing you want to do is look out your rear view mirror and see your load on the loose, or worse yet, in the path of nearby vehicles. Trailer tires are often neglected, so be sure they are in good shape and properly inflated.

While you are out on the road, think twice about passing with a load in tow and if you need to do so, remember to allow extra time and pull-in room when passing slow moving vehicles. Also allow plenty of extra braking distance between you and the vehicle in front of you.

The OPP reminds everyone who plans on hauling loads behind their vehicle, to remember these important safety tips. Safe hauling will go a long way in protecting you, your passengers and nearby vehicles from serious injury or death.

Congratulations to all those communities in the Shield publications areas.

As a person who is lucky enough to get to read all eight of our Shield newspapers each week, I would like to share an impression that really becomes obvious, with the reporting of each week's events in all of our communities. We are blessed with some wonderful folks in these areas, who do more than just complain, observe and comment, or just plain turn their backs. Over and over again, these names are reported as people who simply take up their strengths, offer them to the communities they live in, and in so doing, make those same communities some of the best places to live in Ontario. Each area has various levels of available resources, and yet all seem to bring out the best in their communities, simply because each has a wonderful abundance of people who care, and who will go the extra bit to share, and give to their fellow citizens. Hurrah to all of you, those who are reported on an almost weekly basis, as well as those of you who prefer to perform your magic quietly and in the background. In each community that I have visited, there is a common thread of pride, with wonderful library resources and reading areas, lovely rejuvenation of public areas and parks, and many, many ongoing community events. Almost all are free, so there is no excuse for an inactive or boring season at any time of the year. Read your papers, find out what's going on, and go out and take part. You'll be glad you did. Your mental outlook will be improved, and you will make many new friends.

Grafton—Northumberland OPP is investigating a Tuesday night (May 24th) incident at the Grafton Variety Store resulting in police searching for a dark red mini-van after a handgun was seen in the store parking lot.

Two young people from Cobourg had gone to the store and a young lady waited in the car. The red van parked beside her was occupied by two females in the front and three others in the back.

An eyewitness said a male and female got out of the van and talked in the parking lot, walking back and forth to the door of the store. The male appeared to be angry or agitated. He pulled up his shirt and removed what appeared to be a handgun from the front waistband of his pants. He began to wave it around and at one point looked at the young lady from Cobourg and pointed the handgun at her. She ducked down and when she looked up the van had left the parking lot. Information was received that the van was going to Toronto and may have gone to Cobourg first.

The male with the handgun was described as Caucasian with a dark tan, 16-17 years old, dark hair, 5'9" in height, slim build, a white polo shirt with a pink strip and baggy blue jeans and a diamond earring in each ear. Earlier in the evening a red van had failed to pay for about $50 worth of gas at Macmillan's Gas Station in Campbellford. Police said the incidents may or may not be related. Any one with information is asked to contact Northumberland OPP.

Supporting Canadian Food Grains Bank

By Brenda Ingram

The volunteers for the Third Annual Fiddlers on the Trent Festival are enthusiastically preparing for one of the most unique Fathers Day weekends any family could enjoy. The total experience, from the donation of the paddles by Redtail Paddles of Hastings to the enthusiastic response of the local artistic community," said vice president Gary Richard, a driving force behind the festival, "has been overwhelming." He noted that campsites are already about 70% booked so "campers need to reserve their spots soon." The Festival, which takes place on June 17-19 in Frankford is a local event not only to raise money for the Canadian Food Grains Bank but to bring fiddlers and other musicians from all over Canada for a fun-filled weekend. Events include a canoe/boat musical run from Glen

Ross to Frankford (a must for participants and sightseeing music lovers), camping, and open mike and stage events where all entertainers are welcome. The three-day agenda also features a concert with Ivan and Vivian Hicks the Donegal Fiddlers, and The 1802 Station Fiddlers and musicians, an artistic Paddle auction, fiddle/piano workshops, barbecues and dances, an ecumenical church service and much more.

"Fiddlers on the Trent and other events held for the same cause," said Fiddlers vice president Lois Thompson, "demonstrate that small groups with big ideas can make a difference. I'm very impressed with the willingness of people, all volunteer to work hard for a most worthwhile cause - feeding hundreds of thousands of hungry people worldwide through the Canadian Food Grains Bank."

Home Improvement Guide

Consider Vinyl For Color, Character and Curb Appeal

(MS) -- Not so long ago, if you wanted the easy care and durability of vinyl siding for your home, you could have any color you wanted as long as it was white, off-white or beige.

Today, there's a whole spectrum from which to choose to add fashionable color, architectural character and curb appeal. And, as important, these colors will retain their just-painted good looks for years to come.

One option to consider is the LP(R) Norman Rockwell Vinyl Siding Collection, rated number one by a leading consumer magazine. As the name suggests, the palette evokes a timeless style and a tradition of home, family and neighborhoods. Developed by leading color experts exclusively for LP, choices include historical shades as well as updated tones and classic neutrals.

"Homeowners today approach the exterior design of their homes much like their interiors," says Bob Garrett, brand manager for LP Vinyl. "They want their cladding choices to express their own personal styles, and there's no better way to do that than with color."

"No matter the look they're trying to achieve, our popular Norman Rockwell collection has a color that will meet their architectural and design needs," adds Garrett.

The 17 colors in the collection range from the deep, rich hues of Barn Red, Ocean, Forest, Spice and Mahogany to new neutrals like Smoke, Dusk, Suede and Graphite to traditional favorites like Camel, Cream, Putty and White, among others. The company's three top-sellers are Barn Red, Ocean and Forest, in that order.

The growing popularity of these exterior colors is due in large measure to advanced technology that helps the colors resist fading through years of heat, sun and harsh weather. The company, for example, developed a process called ChromaLock™ technology, which fuses a protective acrylic layer to a vinyl base. The colored acrylic layer resists the harmful effects of the sun's ultraviolet rays that cause fading and weathering and provides strength and durability for long-term performance. In addition, the colors are consistent through the acrylic and vinyl, so scratches don't show. The LP ColorGuard™ Lifetime Limited warranty offers 25 years of fade-resistant coverage. (See warranty for complete details.)

A low-gloss cedar texture, reproduced from actual wood panels, gives an authentic wood look, in either a Dutchlap or clapboard style siding. A full 3/4-inch profile provides dramatic shadow lines and lends added rigidity for a straighter appearance on the wall.

The Norman Rockwell Collection is engineered for high performance and durability. A premium thickness of .044 inches and a double-thick nail hem combine to resist impact and add strength. The siding is rated to resist winds up to 201 miles per hour.

for you -- LP Perfection Shingles in Norman Rockwell colors. The line is patterned from real split cedar shingles for a natural, handcrafted appearance. Choose from 16 Norman Rockwell colors or from the six most popular LP Shingles colors. For design versatility, they're available in both a square style and a scalloped round shingle for accent.

Both of these collections offer color and design, but they also offer two other key benefits -- easy-care and low-cost maintenance. Instead of scraping, priming and painting your house every few years, a rinse with the garden hose, as needed, will maintain the surface, notes Garrett.

"Homeowners choose their exterior siding material based on how it's going to enhance the overall look of their home, but the cost of maintenance over time is also a prime consideration," says Garrett. "With the Norman Rockwell Collection and our Perfection Shingles in Norman Rockwell colors, they get a great look, with very little maintenance."

Holiday Weekend Impaired Drivers Charged

The Central Hastings O.P.P. have charged the drivers of three different vehicles after they were caught drinking and driving.

At 2:20 a.m. on Saturday, May 21st police were on Highway 7 in Madoc Township when they observed a motorcycle weaving back and forth from the centre line to the shoulder. When they stopped the vehicle, they noted that the driver had been drinking. He was arrested and brought to the police detachment where he provided samples of his breath. Upon further investigation it was also determined that the motorcycle was not properly plated and that there was no insurance.

Charged with impaired driving, over 80 milligrams, improper licence plates and driving without insurance is Dale Reynolds, age 42, of Madoc. He is scheduled to appear in Belleville Court on June 30, 2005.

At 4:21 p.m. on May 21st, OPP officers were called to a vehicle roll over collision on Highway 62 near Old Madoc Road in the City of Belleville. When officers arrived, they found that the driver had been drinking and that he had been trying to hide some open bottles of liquor from the police. The driver was arrested and brought to the police station for breath tests.

Charged with driving with over 80 milligrams of alcohol in his blood and driving without a licence is Stephan Phillips, age 26, of Belleville. He is scheduled to appear in Belleville Court in June.

And finally, at 9:30 p.m. on May 21st, OPP officers attended a strange call where a car was being operated while the driver's dog was running along in front. Police had originally been called to the area for a complaint of the dog roaming at large. When the officers spoke to the driver, they noted that he had been drinking. He was arrested and brought to the Central Hastings detachment for breath tests.

Charged with impaired driving is Philip Roche, age 57, of Tweed. He is scheduled to appear in Belleville Court on June 2nd.

Holiday Weekend RIDE Results

A weekend long RIDE campaign has resulted in numerous charges. As they have done for the past several years, officers from the Central Hastings OPP detachment ran a RIDE check stop on Trudeau Lane at Stoco Road in the Tweed area continuously from Friday through to Monday with over 5000 vehicles being checked.

Over 40 Highway Traffic Act charges were laid for offences such as driving under suspension, improper registration and no driver's licence. As well, fourteen people received 12-hour driver's licence suspensions for drinking and driving.

A total of seven criminal charges were laid. Two people were charged with possession of marijuana while two people were also charged with possession of cocaine. One person was charged with personation and obstructing police. As well, one young person was charged with breaching a court order by consuming alcohol.

"Officers were out making this holiday weekend a safe one for the people in the municipalities we police," according to Detachment Commander S/Sgt Peter Valiquette. "We will continue our efforts in the future so that every weekend will be as secure as this past one was."

Motorists are reminded that RIDE check stops may happen anywhere and at any time. Police

Well known artist Claudette Boulanger was happy to donate her "Trout" for the benefit of the Canadian Food Grains Bank. photo: Brenda Ingram

Canadian Food Grains Bank (CFGB), a Canadian project, was started by the Mennonites who grew food for needy people in third world countries. However, since rice, one of the world's staple food grains, cannot be grown here, the program was expanded to deliver resources to buy whatever grains were required. These resources are organized and distributed by the Mennonite Central Committee.

Last year Fiddlers on the Trent raised over $7000 for the Canadian Food Grains Bank which was matched four to one by the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) for a total of approximately $35,000. The target for this year is to raise $10,000 locally resulting in a total of $50,000 for CFGB.

"The paddle auction this year," said Rev. Tom Walton, president of the Fiddlers on the Trent committee, "has grown beyond our expectations in that the generosity shown by the artists and contributors is unprecedented."

There are eighteen paddles all individually designed by eighteen individual artists featuring etched glass, stained glass, tole painting, embroidery inserts and acrylic paintings.

The auction of the eighteen uniquely decorated paddles starts at 2 p.m. on Saturday at the Frankford Tourist Park with Kirk Whipper of the Peterborough Canoe Museum as auctioneer. Some of the money raised from the auction will go to the canoe museum with the rest going to the Canadian Food Grains Bank.

"This is such a good cause," said well known artist Claudette Boulanger, "I was glad to donate my talents and provide a little bit of help for those less fortunate." Her paddle is entitled simply Trout (see picture). Boulanger, a long-time artist and member of Belleville's Gallery 21 was a graphic designer for Loyalist College who became involved in Fiddlers on the Trent through The 1802 Station where she regularly displays one of her other talents - fiddling (what else?).

Len Walker, an artist from Kingston, has designed a paddle with two stained-glass inserts, which can be interchanged according to the season.

Basil Moore, a member of The 1802 Station at Stockdale has decorated a paddle with a relief carving which he calls Old Cabin for Sale.

Local artist Tammy Boomhower has painted a double-sided paddle featuring an osprey entitled Guardian of the Trent.

"Our Friday program," said Rev. Walton, "features a beef barbecue hosted by the Frankford Lions Club with a hind quarter of Angus beef donated by local farmer John Moulker. Smiley's Independent Grocer of Trenton," he added, "is donating all the other necessities for the barbecue. Only 300 tickets at $10 each are available with 100% of the money going to the CFGB. That same night, a concert showcasing the musical talents of our young people is going to be a highlight of the festival."

On Saturday fiddlers, guitarists and harmonica players will provide a floating concert as they paddle down the Trent from Glen Ross to the Frankford Tourist Park. There, they will participate in a concert featuring Ivan and Vivian Hicks, the Donegal Fiddlers, The Station Fiddlers and other musicians and an open-mike session.

The weekend, which will be On Fathers Day Always, is chockful of events that will keep participants busy from the Barbecue on Friday, the famous floating musical performance on the Trent through to the ecumenical Church service on Sunday in the park pavilion.

The Wonder of Opera

Young students at Westben Festival Theatre and Hillcrest Public School in Campbellford were able to watch in wonder at their first opera with the presentation of The Brothers Grimm, a story of three fairytales. Campbellford's gift to opera, Virginia Hatfield, who was playing the role of Little Red Riding Hood, is engaged in conversation by the big, bad wolf. Terry Whitney offers an intimate evening

Belleville, ON—If you like listening to classic rock and spending time with your friends, but don't like noisy bars or the big concert atmosphere, you'll have a good time at the Belleville Club Coffeehouse Concert on Saturday night, June 4th.

"Unplugged and personal", piano player/vocalist Terry Whitney will be performing middle of the road pop/rock by musicians as diverse as Elton John, The Beatles, Cold Play, Billy Joel, and Burton Cummings. The intimate evening also features music by Pink Floyd, Oasis, Phil Collins, Supertramp and David Usher among others.

Known for his solid arrangements and genuine interpretations of piano classics, Whitney chooses songs that he says "keep you thinking and feeling." They are passionate, lyrical and musical, and connect with audiences.

"I'm naturally attracted to performing strongly written songs that can be stripped down for one voice and a piano," he says. "Songs which are technically and emotionally challenging and very listenable."

Included in Terry Whitney's repertoire are familiar songs by familiar artists as well as songs that he sees as "off the grain" but irresistible. "How can you not play 'Ticking' [Elton John]," he adds with a smile.

What can concert-goers expect at the Belleville Club Coffeehouse? Raw, energetic music professionally performed in a sophisticated and relaxed atmosphere. The Club is licensed, the concert starts at 8 pm, doors open at 7 pm.

"I want people to hear a few good tunes, hang out and talk with their friends, to enjoy a good evening," says Whitney.

The Belleville Club is located at 210 Pinnacle Street, Belleville Ontario. Tickets are available at Sam the Record Man at the Quinte Mall or through Trillium Management, 705-778-3622.

Walking the Plank—There's no mercy shown by Capt. Bree (Samantha Marineau) and her motley crew of Lady Pirates as they force poor Professor Bidwell (Connor Fairfield) to walk the plank. The two-hour musical comedy production presented by grades 4-8 at St. Mary's School delighted audiences and received high commendation for the efforts of the students, the teaching staff in tackling such an ambitious project and the attractive set designs on stage. photo/Rolly Ethier.

Jamboree sounds: Len Carr wrapped up the season for Civic Centre jamborees in Hastings with a lively show that brought together a number of familiar faces and musicians. Len has been hosting jamborees in Hastings for the past 5-6 years and has been the mainstay of the Campbellford series for the last 16 years. "I'd have an awful hole inside me if I didn't have my music," says Len. He is busy putting the final touches on the annual Canada Day show at the Murray Fenton Gazebo along the waterfront in Hastings. Photo/Bill Freeman

Flashback to Mob Era—Warren Droessen of Hastings brought a flashback of Al Capone and the 1930 mob era to the Classic Car Show held at the grand re-opening of the Meyersburg Flea Market. Droessen dressed this 1931 Desoto sedan but added some gangster authenticity by dressing the part and looked pretty menacing wielding a machine gun. For even greater life-like effect, his Desoto includes some simulated bullet holes in the windows and the exterior. Calling all participants Doreen Sharpe and Dr. Norm Bartlett are teaming up to co-ordinate the Wheels in Motion event Sunday, June 12th starting at 12:30 at Old Mill Park. The walk actually gets under way at 2 p.m.

Last year there was over $7000 raised in the event. The money went towards keeping the second Venture Van on the road, providing the disabled with transportation. This year the proceeds will go towards the purchase of a lift for the swimming pool.

nate towards the event or a prize please call me Doreen Sharpe at 705-653-0551.

The sponsors for the event are Therapacc Physiotherapy, Sharpe's IGA and Jim McLean at present but the co-ordinators are looking for more sponsors.

Guest speaker Val Wynn has been chosen as one of Rick Hansen's ambassadors for the event.

You can also make a donation to the event by going to the web site below and donate to six-year-old Becca Powney on line. Becca got an early jump on her fundraising mission this year and by May 9th had already exceeded her goal of $200 with some $228.50 collected. She will continue to fundraise for as long as she possibly can.

Meanwhile, on Thursday, May 26th at 10:30 am the Wheels in Motion organizers are planning a wheelchair obstacle course event in front of the Municipal Building. Anyone can participate. For further information call Doreen Sharpe at 653-0551.

Canadian youth 4th highest in international obesity study

Canadian youth rank fourth-highest on the obesity scale in a new international study of adolescents from 34 countries, says co-author Dr. Ian Janssen, a professor in Queen's University's School of Physical & Health Education and Department of Community Health & Epidemiology.

And sedentary behaviour—like watching television—was strongly correlated with being overweight, he adds.

Along with this alarming finding is one that runs contrary to what the research team expected. Surprisingly, as consumption of candy and chocolate increased, the likelihood of being overweight decreased.

"This does not mean that eating sweets in large quantities is recommended for young people," says Dr. Janssen, pointing out that the frequency of candy eating, rather than total amount consumed, was surveyed. While difficult to explain, the dietary results only underline the importance of focusing on physical activity rather than food intake as the primary way to combat overweight and obesity, the researcher emphasizes.

"The adolescent obesity epidemic is a global issue," concludes the paper, which appears in the May issue of Obesity Reviews, a journal of the International Association for the Study of Obesity. "Increasing physical activity participation and decreasing television viewing should be the focus of strategies aimed at preventing and treating overweight and obesity in youth."

The study is based on statistics gathered in 2001-2002 by the World Health Organization's Health Behaviour in School-

Aged Children report, which surveyed more than 160,000 young people aged 11, 13, and 15 years in Europe and North America. The Canadian component of the WHO initiative was coordinated by Dr. William Boyce of Queen's Social Program Evaluation Group (SPEG).

As well as placing fourth overall for obesity (at 4.1 per cent), Canadian youth ranked fifth for "overweight" (19.3 per cent). The three countries with the highest prevalence of obesity were Malta (7.9 per cent), the United States (6.8 per cent), and England (5.1 per cent). The highest prevalence of overweight youth was found in Malta (25.4 per cent), the U.S. (25.1 per cent), and Wales (21.1 per cent).

Noting that no Asian or African countries were included, the study says it is very disturbing that in 77 per cent of the countries examined, at least 10 per cent of youth were overweight, and in 20 per cent of the countries, at least 3 per cent were obese.

"The fact that similar associations were found across countries and cultures demonstrates the robustness of these findings," says Dr. Janssen. "Physical activity interventions should be a fundamental component of health campaigns aimed at reducing the global obesity epidemic."

Attention Well Owners Pine Veau Fracturing

1-888-286-1116

Hydro Fracturing is the process of using water under extreme pressure to break the barrier that is preventing an underground water source from flowing freely into a well. This is not a new technology; the process has been used in oil fields for some 95 years. The technology is new to the water-well industry. This machine fractures the underground rock and opens up the fissures already existing in the rock.

Highly Technical Machine. The high-pressure components for our machines have come directly from the oil fields. The machine produces over 6000 psi (pounds per square inch) and pumps up to 200 GPM (gallons per minute), creating an extremely high pressure in the well. The extreme high pressure opens blocked water veins, producing a higher output well. By fracturing an existing drilled well, we can improve the flow of the well, even if the well is considered dry, or has gone dry after many productive years. To fracture an existing well, there is no mess of digging up lawns or cutting asphalt driveways to hook up pump in new wells. The cost of drilling a new well can be considerable, with no guarantee of increasing the present GPM. To increase our success to 99%, we have developed a system called a double packer, where we can isolate a zone 12-20 ft. by blocking an area top and bottom, then put a pipe with holes in it between our packers. No pressure can go beyond the two packers. This allows us to open up more areas in the wells called aquifers. This system can also be used in wells where an area of bad water exists. We can go above and below where good water is found. For example, if salt or sulphur is found at the bottom of a well it can be plugged up and we can fracture nearer the top in the rock where water quality is better.

Avoid Unnecessary Cost. If you have an existing well or are considering drilling a new well...WE can save you money! In 99% of all new wells once considered dry that we have hydro-fractured, we have found water between 50 ft. - 300 ft.

Protect Your Investment. A piece of land, a home or a business is of no value without water. The cost of this service can be measured in more than the dollar value...water is absolutely necessary to life itself.

Man faces tractor trailer theft charges

Quinte West—A two-month investigation has resulted in charges being laid against a 24-year-old Quinte West man, Jason David Henry. He faces five charges of theft over $500, five charges of possession of stolen property over $5,000 and one count of breach of probation.

The investigation by the Northumberland OPP, Northumberland Street Crime Unit and the Rural Agricultural Crime Team relates to a tractor trailer taken from a Rovers R Us parking lot at the Belleville Quinte Mall in early March.

During the course of the probe, approximately $500,000 worth of property was recovered throughout southeastern Ontario.

Jake Mathews, Diane Chase on stage

Peterborough - It will be Sudbury Saturday Night at Del Cray Park Aug. 6 when rising stars Jake Mathews and Diane Chase hit the Festival of Lights stage.

With Brad Johner not able to make the Festival this summer the Sudbury natives will be part of this year's line-up.

Mathews has had several top 20 hits and a couple of CCMA Rising Star nominations; he is meeting expectations as one of Canada's most exciting new country talents with his outstanding Time after Time release. The title track from the CD was the most-added-song to Canadian country radio when it was released.

Diane Chase's first single In the Middle of Something zoomed into the top 10 and stayed there for almost two months. As well, the video was a favourite on CMT earning a spot at number nine on their top 20 countdown.

Along with this single she also produced four other top 20 hits and number of CCMA nominations.

Annual fundraiser at Ivanhoe supports local Fire Fighters

Michael J. Haynes travelled from Ajax with his grandparents enroute to their cottage north of Madoc. It is an annual event for the family to stop at the West Huntingdon Fire Fighters yard sale. They not only find great treasures they said, but are happy to give their dollars towards the Fire Fighters.

There is always so much to look for and the one discovery that is just right. Brock Kerby discovered his special item. All proceeds from the sales are to support the efforts of the Huntingdon Fire Department.

This pretty miss from Stirling visited the Annual Yard Sale Fundraiser put on by the Huntingdon Fire Department's Women's Auxillary each year at Ivanhoe. This fundraiser was once again a great success, with Volunteers providing time and material to the cause of helping the community from accidents to fires.

There were lots of great finds at the annual yard sale at Ivanhoe, but none so special as a kiss from the gentle Collie Retriever cross, "Cody". Four year old Cheyenne Vesterfelt found love at last weekends Yard Sale Fundraiser for the Huntingdon Firefighters.

Help kids swim safely this summer

Summer is coming and swimming is a great way to beat the heat, but water can be dangerous for little ones under the age of six years.

Safe Kids Week runs from May 30 to June 5. The Hastings & Prince Edward Counties Health Unit and Safe Kids Canada want to remind parents and grandparents of the importance of swimming safety.

"For young children, drowning is the second leading cause of death," says Joanna Mestre, a health promoter with the Health Unit. "For each drowning, three more children will be hospitalized for near-drownings. Often these near-drownings result in permanent brain damage."

"Supervision is the key to preventing small children from drowning and near drownings," says Mestre. "Be it in a bathtub, a wading pool, backyard pool or beach, young children need to be constantly supervised. It only takes a few inches of water and a few seconds for young children to drown," adds Mestre.

Safe Kids Week - May 30 to June 5

In most cases of toddler drownings, toddlers gained direct access to the family pool from the house. "If you own a pool that is not fully enclosed with a four-sided fence, please consider making this change," encourages Mestre. A four-sided fence prevents direct access by having the fourth side between the pool and house. For extra protection, fences should be equipped with self-closing and self-latching gates.

The situation depicted in the film FIX: the story of an addiction is not just a big city problem.

On Tuesday, May 31 at 7:30 p.m., the documentary FIX will be screened at the Empire Theatre, 323 Front Street, Belleville. A panel discussion will follow. Panel members include Justice Geoff Griffin; Michael Piercy, Centre for Addiction and Mental Health; and Debbie Breaux and Brent Taylor, UNNDU (Unified National Drug Users Network). Tracy Logan will be moderator. The event is free of charge. Donations to the Injection Drug Use Harm Reduction Task Force are welcome. The task force is the sponsor of this event.

The documentary is the work of award-winning Canadian filmmaker Nettie Wild. It began production in 2000 in Vancouver. For the next two years, Wild followed real life characters as their stories interconnected in a battle for the hearts, minds and streets of a city each one called home. Budget: more questions than answers

By Ron Bonnett

Farmers were left with more questions than answers about support for their industry when the 2005 provincial budget was presented. It contained little for agriculture, and it came at a time when the financial hurt continues to grow.

Numerous times in the past year OFA, its County Federations of Agriculture and many provincial commodity organizations, took the unified message of agriculture and its devastating financial needs to the politicians that make up the Ontario Legislature. Agriculture's need for new provincial investment has been made abundantly clear.

The politicians at Queen's Park seem to have shut off the tap that had allowed desperately needed financial support to farmers a few months ago. Ontario farmers and their families are still facing financial disaster as commodity prices remain at 25-year lows, and the BSE crisis has no end in sight.

Agriculture is Ontario's second largest industry, and Finance Minister Sorbara, in his budget speech, acknowledged its $8.6 billion contribution to the province's economic wealth. That's a lot of jobs for the non-farm community and a lot of rural economic development.

How are farmers and their families expected to continue operating? Once the equity is used up, and credit is no longer available to buy inputs for the farm, the whole economic structure that keeps rural Ontario alive begins to crumble. That crumbling sound eventually will reach urban Ontario because farmers buy vehicles, furniture, and clothing, just like the rest of society.

That's not all the bad news from the 2005 Ontario budget. Documents provided by the finance ministry reveal the operating budget for the Ministry of Agriculture and Food will take a cut of $169 million this year. OMAF Minister Peters, in conversation following the budget presentation, said the real number would be an increased investment of $15 million.

Before much more can be said or done on that topic, we will have to work with OMAF officials to establish the real number - is it an increased investment of $15 million or a cut of $169 million?

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture and its commodity partners will be working with members to re-emphasize to the Ontario government the value of investment in agriculture. Investments in agriculture cannot be made on a day-to-day basis - they must be part of the overall budgeting process.

We will continue to insist that agriculture and food production is recognized as a priority issue for this province.

Farm organizations and their leaders will be looking for some assurances that adequate funding will remain in place for a number of on-going programs.

We are continuing to develop safety net programs for 2005 and beyond and will be working hard with the McGuinty government to ensure that adequate funding is available for the coming year.

Ron Bonnett is the President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Green thumbs unite: The garden season is well and truly underway and the Asphodel-Norwood Horticultural Society's annual Victoria Weekend holiday sale was another well-attended hit with both local gardeners and cottagers who were impressed with the sale selection. Photo/Bill Freeman

Meetings to focus on agri-food future

TORONTO—The Ontario government is working to ensure a sustainable future for the province's agri-food industry by developing a new vision for the sector, Minister of Agriculture and Food Steve Peters has announced.

"As we all know, Ontario's agri-food industry is going through a great deal of change," said Peters. "While we are addressing immediate concerns, we also need to look to the future, and where the industry needs to be."

Peters announced that a series of nine stakeholder meetings will be held across the province to identify future directions to stabilize the industry and make it prosperous into the next century. The first meeting will be held in Casselman on July 4. The meetings will be organized by the Premier's Summit Advisory Committee and are the next step in the development of a new vision for agriculture in Ontario.

In advance of the meetings a discussion document will be posted on the ministry website for comment from the public. The information gathered would be used in the creation of Ontario's vision for the agri-food sector that will be brought forward for discussion at the second annual summit later this year.

"With the leadership of the Premier's Summit Advisory Committee, we are confident that this process will result in a strong vision," noted Peters. "A vision that reflects a modern, vibrant and growing agri-food sector in which participants - from the farm gate to the dinner plate - can prosper."

The committee was given the mandate to provide advice to the Premier on what a new vision for the agri-food sector should be at the Premier's first annual summit on agri-food, last December. The advisory committee members are, Jane Graham, Greg Hannam, John Kikkert, Deb Lethbridge, Don Mills, and Carol Tyler.

New point-of-sale will help farmers

Guelph—The Ontario government is making it easier for farmers to claim their retail sales tax (RST) exemption when purchasing eligible farm-related goods, services and insurance for their businesses, says Minister of Agriculture and Food Steve Peters.

Effective April 1, 2005, Ontario producers were allowed to use their general farm organization identification cards in place of a purchase exemption certificate to obtain point-of-sale retail sales tax exemptions.

"The provincial government is acting on advice from general farm organizations and keeping a promise made in the budget," said Peters. "The use of the farmer identification card simplifies the way farmers are able to obtain retail sales tax exemptions on eligible farm-related goods, services and insurance." The announcement is the result of consultations between the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, the Ministry of Finance and general farm organizations, and complements the existing tax exemption system. Producers who are not members of one of the general farm organizations will still be able to use their existing purchase exemption certificate, or apply to the Ministry of Finance for a refund.

"We're proud of our commitment to Ontario farmers," said Finance Minister Greg Sorbara. "Minister Peters has done, and continues to do, an excellent job of ensuring that their voices are heard in our deliberations."

Information notices will be sent to retailers and all producers registered with the EBR program.

Vitamin E and Selenium Supplementation

Vitamin E and selenium are powerful anti-oxidants and have roles in the development of both the muscles and immune system of newborn animals. The soil in this region is deficient in selenium and most animals require supplementation.

Low vitamin E and selenium levels may cause: sudden death due to heart failure, weak pale muscles, decreased growth rate and a poorly responsive immune system. Newborn calves, lambs, kids and foals should be supplemented with an injectable form of vitamin E and selenium within the first 24 hours of life. Accurate dosing is essential, especially in very small newborns, to avoid an overdose.

Rapidly growing animals may need to be further supplemented in the first few months of life to prevent later onset of disease. Providing quality mineral supplement to adult animals will ensure they receive adequate selenium.

Injectable vitamin E and selenium is a very inexpensive therapy and should be considered a part of a routine newborn management program. For more information please contact Campbellford Veterinary Services.

Macklin Praises Government's Investment in Childcare

The Honourable Paul Macklin, Member of Parliament for Northumberland - Quinte West praised the announcement of an agreement on Childcare between the Province of Ontario and Government of Canada.

"Experts agree that investing in early childhood development is the best educational investment we can make at any point in a person's life. Last spring, our government committed to a national childcare program, and with the recent agreement with Ontario, we are fulfilling that pledge," stated Mr. Macklin.

The $5 billion federal investment in the national childcare strategy sets national standards for childcare, and represents one of the largest investments in social policy since the creation of medicare. The funding for the first-phase of the agreement with Ontario is contingent on the passing of the 2005 Federal Budget.

Paul Macklin concluded by stating: "Today in Canada, eighty-four percent of households with children have both parents in the workforce. Expert opinion on this issue is clear - investments in early child development pay off far more than any other educational investment at any other time in a person's life. In making this agreement, our government has been able to fulfill our pledge from last spring to the people of Ontario to address this basic need. Locally, I am continuing to address the issues raised in the Joint Task Force on Youth Opportunities to ensure that continued local investments in our youth are sustainable, and reach those that need it most."

It's all about Chances. Bring in a Free T-shirt!

If you are a woman and not for that good about yourself lately, pick up the phone and call the gals at About Chances. Located at Lawrence St. in Madoc, It's About Chances have been consulting for almost 2 years. Recently they asked to change their business from "Changes" to "Chances" as a result of another company having claim to the name. It is a same exciting place to receive personal attention you deserve. Kathy, Veronica, Patricia, and Krista will continue to offer programs to enable women to lose weight, relieve stress, get fit, good about themselves, and a company of new friends with interests.

It's All About Chances has all the equipment all in excellent shape housed in a modern, air conditioned environment. They not only have equipment, but they also offer complimentary health practice as well as weekly nutrition classes. It's All About Chances also has in-house registered massage therapists. Madoc's own Tricia Wannan says, "There is always room for other practitioners to join Chances. We are encouraged to contact us myself," says Cindy.

Operating as an independent franchise, gives the gals more freedom to treat each client as an individual. They address each member's needs on an individual basis and offer programs that are best suited to each particular individual. Kathy says the last 30 months of marketing and 5 years as a teacher, have assisted her in making the business as successful as she has become. Low-cost Tips on Getting Your Home Ready to Sell

The first step to selling your home is making any minor cosmetic improvements. Changes may be as simple as applying a fresh coat of paint to the walls, adding a decorative handrail to the entryway steps, or adding new knobs to the kitchen cabinets. However, even if you can afford to do to freshen up the look of your home will only make it more appealing to prospective buyers.

Here are a few low-cost tips on how to get your home ready to sell from general contractor Brian Gurry, host of CN8, The Comcast Network's reality-based home improvement show, "American Builder," which uncovers the trials and tribulations of residential and commercial construction projects.

- Get a gallon of paint. First impressions are crucial, says Gurry. "Paint the front door trim as well as the entranceway to create a polished appearance upon entry," says Gurry. "The investment of a can of paint, roller, brush and a few hours of labor will be well worth it once the house goes on the market."

- Mulch makes a difference. Many homeowners have mulch around the yard, but it often been on the ground for a few years. "You can forget how good fresh mulch looks," Gurry says. "It doesn't take much to make your mulch look brand-new — just rake it up and add a new inch or two to the top."

- Wash your windows. Clean your windows inside and out to make your home sparkle. "Dirty windows can block up to 30 percent of sunlight," Gurry says. "When you walk into a room after the windows are cleaned, you will immediately notice how much better it looks. You may not be able to figure out why, but the room will shine." To get the job done, Gurry suggests doing it yourself or hiring a professional window cleaner (could cost as little as $2 per window) who can finish the job in half the time.

Trent Hills sign on in proposed County alliance with OVERT

By Rolly Ethier

Trent Hills has approved a recommendation to become part of a joint service alliance with the Ontario Volunteer Emergency Response Team (OVERT) organization serves a similar role in the province to that of the National Guard in the U.S. with homeland emergency incidents or disaster.

In order to have the alliance realized and have it administered on a county-wide basis, each of the municipalities within Northumberland County must be in having a motion of support. The OVERT alliance is a cost of roughly $5,800 per the entire County.

Chief Administrative Officer Rutter says incidents such as the recent flood and the burning factory fire are becoming more common and the local police have an appropriate level in place for such incidents. The CAO says an agreement is critical to protect the response. He said it is important that any affiliation agreement "as a scale disaster often crosses boundaries."

"It is the wish of County Council to send this issue back to the municipalities to request the noted Rutter in his report the May 9th municipal council. "If that support is given the County will then negotiations aimed at a co-OVERT."

Failing that unanimity Trent Hills could purchase directly or negotiate a service directly with OVERT. Services that could be included disaster response, rural search operations, children searches, body recovery, and rapid water.

Rutter says OVERT was useful in last summer's Pelee Island flood, providing assistance in the clean-up operation and security at the evacuation and other valuable tasks.

Get Your Car Ready for the Season

It's time to make sure your car's ready to handle the season. By taking a few easy steps that only take minutes, you can save your car from days or weeks with a mechanic.

Tip #1 Start in the Driveway — Most people think to look under the hood as a starting point. However, check the driveway first instead. If you see oil where you park your car, you could have a potential problem. You should have your car inspected by a professional.

Tip #2 Check Your Fluid Levels — All fluid levels

should be checked and topped up as needed (engine oil, transmission, cooling system, power steering, brake fluid and washer fluid). Fluids are the lifeblood of your car. Purchasing high-quality fluids and regularly changing old fluids will improve your car's performance and reliability.

Tip #3 Avoid Overheating — Overheating, especially as the weather gets warmer, is the leading cause of preventable breakdowns and one of the main areas where prevention is much cheaper than the cure. Simply stated, a fried engine is an expensive repair. If your antifreeze is more than a couple of years old, play it safe and replace your antifreeze. You should also consider adding a coolant such as Purple Ice® to your radiator. It's been shown to reduce engine temperature as much as 30 F or more, and it's commonly used to help cool hot racing engines. It also helps condition seals to prevent leaks.

Tip #4 Upgrade Your Oil — Another way to reduce engine heat is to upgrade to high-performance synthetic motor oil. Synthetic motor oils disperse heat faster and have a lower coefficient of friction than mineral-based motor oils; this helps reduce engine heat. For instance, high-performance synthetic motor oil by Royal Purple has been shown to decrease engine temperatures up to 12 percent while improving horsepower and fuel economy. (Data on independent testing of their products is available at www.royalpurple.com.)

Tip #5 Check Your Belts and Hoses — After checking and/or adding fluids, check the belts and hoses. A worn or loose belt can cause the engine to overheat. A cracked belt or a hose that is unusually soft or overly hard needs to be replaced. Make sure hose clamps are tight, and check the ends for cracks or corrosion. Because extreme heat can cause leaks and other damage, keep an eye out for hard, blistered or spongy hoses. If any of these warning signs are present, replace the hoses immediately. It's also a good idea to keep spare belts in your trunk, especially if your vehicle has a single serpentine or multi-v belt. If this belt fails, you'll be left going nowhere.

Tip #6 Inspect Battery Terminals, Hinges and Latches — Battery terminals should be cleaned, tightened and lubricated. It's also good to clean and lubricate hinges and the hood latch. Make sure the battery terminals and hold-downs are tight. If corrosion is present, (you'll see white residue cake on the battery terminals), clean it with a mixture of bak-

We've been located at this location on Highway #7 for 11 years.

"We've come a long way since the beginning. We are your ONE STOP shopping for signs," said the owner, Janet (Shadow) Johnstone.

We do everything from VINYL & MAGNETIC SIGNS to SANDBLASTING & MANUFACTURING LIGHTED SIGNS.

We are proud to announce that we NOW offer to all our customers DIGITAL GRAPHICS for all vehicles. We do WRAPS on cars and trucks.

With our digital printing machine, we can even do your logo or picture of your product on a T-shirt if you're doing an advertising campaign.

We do LAMINATING as well.

We're not just a sign of the times, we're a sign of the future.

Our IMAGE is yours.

ing soda and water, and put on a set of battery washers to keep corrosion from coming back. Top any low battery cells with distilled water.

Tip #7 Check Your Tires — Lastly, inspect your tires. All tires should be properly inflated, including the spare. Refer to the sidewall of your tire for the proper pressure level. Properly inflated tires increase gas mileage, lengthen tire life, and are much less susceptible to blowouts.

Properly preparing your car for summer doesn't require a lot of time or technical expertise. The payoff of preparation is that your vehicle will have a reduced risk of a breakdown and an improved performance.

Coolants Help Prevent Vehicle Breakdowns

Car engine overheating, especially in hot weather, is the leading cause of preventable vehicle breakdowns. It's important to avoid such breakdowns — a fried engine translates into a very expensive repair. Fortunately, overheating is one of the easiest vehicular situations to avoid.

An inexpensive and easy insurance against engine heat is to add a radiator coolant such as Purple Ice[®], Royal Purple's specially formulated high-performance synthetic coolant additive. How do you know it really works? It's commonly used by professional racers who encounter extreme temperatures hotter than those seen in any street car.

The coolant has been shown in independent tests to reduce engine temperature in street cars and trucks as much as 30 F or more. The additive was engineered to reduce the surface tension of the coolant, which improves heat transfer throughout the cooling system.

Coolant additives also protect the radiator and other cooling system components against corrosion. They prevent the formation of scale deposits in the radiator for optimum coolant flow and lubricate water-pump seals. Most coolant additives are compatible with traditional ethylene glycol antifreeze (green) and GM Dex-Cool antifreeze.

Recreation Vehicles Offer Convenience and Comfort

Americans with recreational vehicles (RVs) will be hitting the road in record numbers this season. In fact, consumers purchased RVs at an unprecedented pace last year despite record-high gasoline prices, reinforcing an industry survey which found nearly one in 12 U.S. vehicle-owning households now owns an RV. That is an impressive 42 percent increase over the past 21 years. But it's no accident that the RVing lifestyle has risen to historical popularity. Americans are finding that today's RVs offer an attractive mix of freedom, comfort and family time that only RV travel can provide.

ENJOY THE FREEDOM

One of the big lures of the RV lifestyle is the freedom to go wherever, whenever, because your RV is always ready to roll. Any weekend can become a mini vacation, and longer trips are even more enjoyable.

Any weekend can become a mini vacation, and longer trips are even more enjoyable with an RV. You can go wherever, whenever!

When you travel by RV, you don't need to think about where to eat, sleep or play because your RV can serve as your restaurant, accommodations and entertainment all in one. Bob Rudolph, an RV enthusiast from Minnesota, enjoys the freedom of taking frequent getaways with his wife in his Itasca Sunrise motor coach. "Our RV allows us to take spur-of-the-moment trips without the hassle of making plans and reservations," says Rudolph. "And once we're on the road, we don't have to worry about following any schedule."

TRAVEL IN COMFORT

When you think about an RV today, you can forget about that pop-up camper your parents kept in the backyard when you were a kid. Today's RVs offer all the modern conveniences and comforts of home. Wherever you choose to roam, an RV makes the perfect home base.

"Today's RVs are built for comfort, equipped with well-appointed living and sleeping quarters, and feature an installed generator that provides electrical power to operate modern RV amenities such as air-conditioning, televisions and microwaves," says Mike Kline, towable RV division marketing manager for Onan, an RV power generation products and services company.

Traditional RV amenities are now combined with state-of-the-art entertainment and communications systems, allowing the modern RV to be a high-tech home on wheels. According to industry surveys, the most popular electronic gadgets found in RVs are flat-screen TVs, satellite dishes, video game systems, cellular phones, laptops and PCs, and surround-sound CD and DVD players with individual headphones.

"With our laptop and Internet access, we can be thousands of miles from home and still stay connected with family and friends," says Rudolph.

RECONNECT WITH FAMILY

In this era of overscheduled, stressed-out families, RV trips are the perfect way for families to reconnect and spend quality time together, whether it's for a weekend or an extended vacation. Today's RVs allow families to escape the interruptions of routine home life, yet take the comforts of home with them. And bringing all the conveniences and familiarities of home with you makes for a more comfortable and enjoyable getaway together.

Five Ways to Make Your Car Environmentally Friendly

A single car can substantially impact the environment. According to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the average car emits as much as 575 pounds of carbon monoxide into the air each year. Until automakers develop a more environmentally friendly automobile, it's up to individual drivers to help reduce their car's footprint on the planet.

Here are five easy ways to drive green without buying a new car or drastically changing your driving habits:

1. Always follow your car manufacturer's suggested tune-up schedule to ensure your vehicle is performing at its best. An out-of-tune engine can increase emissions and fuel consumption by as much as 15 percent, according to the EPA.

2. Upgrade your motor oil. Some high-performance motor oils have been proven to significantly reduce emissions. For instance, according to independent tests conducted by North Carolina State University, Royal Purple(R) motor oil reduces carbon monoxide emissions by as much as 62 percent when compared to conventional synthetic and petroleum-based oils. It also improves fuel economy by as much as 5 percent and produces notable horsepower and torque increases. So you can switch to an environmentally friendly product without sacrificing performance. More information about their products is available at www.royalpurple.com.

3. Regularly replace your air filter. A clogged air filter can increase fuel consumption by as much as 10 percent. Air filters prevent impurities from damaging the interior of the engine. So replacing dirty filters will save gas and protect your engine.

4. Keep your vehicle's tires properly inflated. The U.S. Energy Department reports that underinflated tires can increase fuel consumption by up to 6 percent. One study estimates that 50 to 80 percent of the tires rolling on U.S. roads are underinflated. It will save you money too - collectively, Americans could save up to 2 billion gallons of gas each year simply by properly inflating their tires.

5. Avoid topping off your gas tank when you are filling it. Topping off releases gas fumes into the air and overrides the pump's antipollution devices. Capping your tank once the pump automatically shuts off is safer for the environment because it reduces pollution.

How to Keep Your Car in Good Condition

Automotive service and repair has changed dramatically over a generation. High-tech systems unheard of 30 years ago are now common on the nation's fleet of vehicles — anti-lock brakes, electronic engine controls, computerized diagnostics, and more. And more advances are on the way: Hybrid vehicles are now becoming a reality; inter-active suspensions, constantly variable-speed transmissions and 42-volt batteries will soon become commonplace.

Yet, as high-tech as the field has become, the nonprofit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) reminds motorists that regular maintenance and service is the best way to maximize your automotive investment. According to ASE, an independent group that tests and certifies the competence of auto technicians nationally, taking care of things as mundane as oil changes and brake inspections prevents problems down the line. You'll get better gas mileage and lessen the chance of breakdowns, too.

Incorporated on June 12, 1972, the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) is a nonprofit, independent organization dedicated to improving the quality of automotive service and repair through the voluntary testing and certification of automotive technicians. ASE-certified technicians wear blue and white ASE shoulder insignia and carry credentials listing their exact area(s) of certification. They must retest every five years to remain certified, which means they'll stay on top of the automotive industry's ever-changing technology.

Today, there are some 400,000 ASE-certified professionals at work in dealerships, independent garages, franchise outlets, collision repair shops, auto-parts stores and other facilities throughout the country. Their employers often display the blue and white ASE sign.

Tips For Keeping Occupied While Traveling

"Are we there yet?" That's the dreaded question often repeated by children and adults alike when en route to a destination. However, you can avoid avoiding hearing a chorus of "are we there yet's" and having a group of stir-crazy travelers by factoring in ways to stave off boredom during the long hours on the road, rail or in flight you can. Here are some tips, courtesy of b.dazzle, inc., creators of the Scramble Squares(R) puzzles.

Keep comfort in mind. It's easy for one to get antsy while traveling, especially when he or she is uncomfortable. Wear lightweight clothing that is comfortable for spending long hours in a seated position. Also, don't squeeze in too many passengers. A seat or space for each person is essential for safety, and prevents children from pushing and shoving for the "best" position.

Schedule breaks. When on a car trip, make plenty of stops to get out and stretch. Visit rest stops for bathroom facilities and a change of scenery. It also breaks up the trip and refreshes the driver. For plane or train travelers, get up and move around when permitted. Getting your circulation flowing once more could refresh you and put you in better spirits.

Hunger pangs can put anyone in a lousy mood.

Keep occupied. Pack what's necessary to keep travelers' minds off the long trip. Some good ideas are books, personal CD or MP3 players (so the entire group isn't forced to listen to the same tunes), portable video games or movies. One of the best options is a game that will challenge the mind and keep travelers busy. Scramble Squares puzzles can do just that. Recently named "Best of the Rest" in the 2004 25th Anniversary Toy Test produced by KTVU TV, the Fox television network affiliate in San Francisco, California, these brain teaser puzzles come in a range of themes including nature, sports, history, culture, geography, science, technology, occupations, fantasy, and more. And while they're easy to play, they're also challenging to solve. The puzzles are appropriate for ages 4 and up and have been shown to reinforce critical thinking, problem-solving skills, manual dexterity and patience among players.

"Whenever I get the chance

I play with the puzzles," says 9-year-old Jillian Joseph from Columbia, Maryland. "However, even with the help of my family and friends, the answer still remains unsolved."

Packed in a resealable vinyl travel pouch, they're quite practical for bringing along while traveling, and you can buy three or four for about the cost of a tank of gas.

Refuel ... the body. Hunger pangs can put anyone in a lousy mood. Pack along snacks in plastic bags and containers, which makes them able to be easily enjoyed on the go. But keep them light - want to aggravate sensitive stomach or greasy treats. Pretzels, vegetable sticks, boxes are good choices.

Purchasing Used Vehicles: Protect Yourself from Buying a 'Lemon'

If you have ever purchased a used vehicle, you likely took it to an automotive mechanic to have it checked out after you've bought it. That's a great idea that can save you from "buyer's reorse." But there's actually one other step that you may want to consider.

Many auto body or collision repair facilities offer a "pre-purchase" check of used vehicles. This service, for which there may be a fee, can help determine if there is unrepaired or poorly repaired previous damage that could impact the vehicle's value, safety, or performance.

A qualified, well-trained collision repair facility can restore both the look and performance of even a badly damaged vehicle. In addition, well-trained collision repair facilities will be able to determine if a vehicle that may seem shiny and new to the consumer is really hiding substandard or unsafe repairs. In some cases, a used vehicle that looks like a great bargain is actually a "rebuilt" vehicle that had been declared a total loss. It may have had a previous collision or have been water damaged in a flooded area. A vehicle that has been severely damaged or totaled can be repaired properly, but improper repairs may not fully meet safety standards.

tion inspected by a properly trained collision repair business can help you avoid "surprises" after the sale. Surprises can include paint that begins to peel, electrical problems, wheels that cannot be aligned, a trunk or window seal that leaks -- or worse yet, damaged safety features such as structural damage or an airbag system that hasn't been restored to work properly.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

While the collision repair facility can thoroughly inspect a vehicle, there are a number of things consumers can do when researching a used vehicle:

- * Check for a musty smell -- an indication of water leak problems or flood damage -- inside the vehicle and in the trunk.

- * Make sure that your test drive includes a stretch of flat, straight highway. If the vehicle "pulls" or if the steering feels "sloppy," there could be suspension damage that has not been properly repaired. Uneven tire wear may also indicate suspension problems.

- * Look at the vehicle paint from different angles, and in a variety of lighting situations, when the vehicle is clean and dry. Compare the color match between panels. Run your hand along the door jambs and the hood and trunk jambs. If they feel rough or look dull rather than shiny, the vehicle may have been refinished poorly or without these areas properly masked. An improper paint job is not dangerous, but it may result in paint peeling problems later on or be covering poor quality repair work.

- * Ask about the vehicle history. Whenever possible, check with previous owners to find out if it was ever involved in a major collision or totaled for any reason. Vehicle histories are also available to the potential buyer from several information providers. If the vehicle has suffered significant damage, have a trained collision repair facility inspect the quality of the repairs.

- * Look for fluid leaks on the underside of the vehicle, on the engine or transmission, or on the ground beneath the vehicle. Look thoroughly for signs of corrosion (or rust) on all areas of the vehicle.

Just as you spend time choosing the right vehicle to purchase, it's a good idea to spend time choosing the right collision repair business -- whether you need a repair facility to check out a used vehicle you're considering for purchase, or you need collision repair work done. Insurers and collision repair business owners alike say the key to selecting the right collision repair business is to look for evidence of properly trained technicians, such as the Gold Class Professionals(R) designation.

Use the online Gold Class business directory at www.gold-class.com to select a well-trained Gold Class collision repair business; they have the knowledge and understanding to effectively communicate and work with one another when repairing your vehicle. They know when parts can be repaired, or when they need to be replaced. This helps eliminate surprises when the repair bill comes, and it leads to less hassle for you! Gold Class Professionals are dedicated to training their employees on the latest collision repair technology to help achieve a safe and complete repair.

In the teenage years, the hormones grab hold. Pimples wreak havoc on faces, the opposite sex suddenly gets factored into the equation and mood swings become the norm.

One of the most anticipated milestones of a teen's life is, arguably, getting a license. But before teens hit the road full speed ahead, they need to make the words "auto insurance" part of their vocabulary. It's illegal to drive without car insurance, and it's unfortunately surrounded by some daunting statistics: the risk of crash per mile driven is four times higher for 16 to 19 year olds than for older drivers, according to the Auto Insurance Advocate, an online car insurance resource. That's why auto insurance is necessary to protect teens in case of an accident as well as theft.

As reflected in news headlines across the country, auto

Along with a teenager's license comes the burden of paying auto insurance. But, there are some easy tips to follow to help you save.

May Wheels 2005

Save Money on Teen Car Insurance

insurance rates have skyrocketed in most states. But there are ways to purchase quality insurance without having to sacrifice their college savings. Here are five tips from industry experts to help teens and their parents save:

1. Educated students reap rewards. Those who get a B or better average can score discounts. The credit varies state to state, but you could get a discount of up to 25 percent. And teens who take a driving course can get about a 10 percent discount.

2. Once teens have three years of driving experience, they are considered less of a risk. Unfortunately, those with three or less years are slammed with higher rates.

3. Adding a teen to your policy is always going to raise your premium, but it's cheaper than getting a teen his own policy. Get a few quotes before deciding on a company.

Also, ask your carrier if you can designate one vehicle as your young driver's on the policy. That way the insurance company won't price the premium based on the highest-risk vehicle on your policy. Note that in many states if you have three drivers and two vehicles, the teen driver will be rated on the car with the higher premium, even if the teen never drives it. But, if you have three cars and three drivers, you can lock the teen into one vehicle.

4. Even one ticket or accident hikes rates. More than three can threaten teens with policy cancellation. Teens shouldn't even think about drinking and driving -- a D.U.I or D.W.I. can get a policy cancelled or prevent teens from getting insurance. Even if the policy is renewed, the rates will be higher for the next 3 to 5 years.

5. If you are thinking of buying your teen a car, inquire about its rating. Spinning around the high school parking lot in a pricey convertible may sound cool, but more "high performance" vehicles or those that are favored by thieves mean higher insurance rates. But that doesn't mean you should skip completely and get a lemon of a car. Instead, look at cars that boast safety-minded features like automatic seatbelts, airbags and antilock breaks that could also bring in discounts.

Auto insurance doesn't have to drain a teen's allowance. Parents and teens can work together to curb auto insurance costs. And that can make getting a license one milestone that was worth the wait.

The cabin filter serves the same purpose as the home's furnace filter, trapping and preventing particulate pollen, dust, smoke and other outdoor sources from contaminating the vehicle's interior air.

Replace the Cabin Filter and Breathe Clean Air

When you're driving your car, truck or SUV with the windows closed, do you find yourself sneezing or coughing, and your eyes watery and itchy? The source of your discomfort very well may be the usual environmental villains: pollen, mold spores, bacteria, smoke, road dust and exhaust chemical residues. And one reason you may be noticing their irritating and harmful effects more when you are driving is that the cabin air filter in your vehicle is dirty and needs to be replaced.

Cabin air filtration systems were first introduced in the 1939 Nash. Nash has long since disappeared from the automotive scene; and for years there was little interest in adding cabin filtration systems to vehicles. Things changed when European automakers began installing them in their cars in the mid-1980s to address poor air quality and its harmful effects on drivers. American automakers soon followed, beginning with cabin filtration systems on the Ford Contour and Mercury Mystique. By the end of 2000, more than 16 million vehicles were built with cabin air filters in the United States. Since then, the range of models offered with cabin air filters has grown steadily. Today, approximately 55 percent of all new vehicles sold in the United States have cabin air filtration systems installed as standard equipment or an available option.

TYPES OF CABIN FILTERS

Two basic types of cabin filters are in use today and are available from manufacturers like Bosch. One type is the particulate filter; the other is an activated charcoal filter. The particulate filter is a multi-layer design composed of a pre-filter, an electrostatically-charged microfiber layer and a cover layer. Each layer is made with a mold-resistant filtration media that serves to ensure maximum performance and durability.

"A clean cabin filter is essential to maintaining good air quality in your vehicle,"

The pre-filter is composed of a special non-woven media designed to capture larger contaminating particles, including pollen and mold spores. The electrostatically-charged microfiber layer attracts and holds elusive smaller-size particles from smoke, bacteria, and other contaminants. The cover layer is constructed of a non-woven filter media that adds stability and protects the microfiber layer from damage. It also provides an additional barrier against harmful contaminants.

The activated charcoal filter has all of the features of the particulate filter, plus an activated charcoal layer that absorbs harmful gases and their odors. And like their distant cousin, the home furnace filter, automotive cabin filters often feature a pleated design. The pleats provide greater surface area for higher filtration capacity, and the more pleats, the greater the filtration capacity.

KNOW WHEN TO REPLACE FILTERS

Of course, cabin filters must be relatively clean to deliver such benefits. Some signs that indicate it's time to replace the cabin filter are when the vehicle's heating/air conditioning system is exhibiting reduced air flow, or when you smell a stale, musty odor coming from the air vents. Service technicians recommend replacing cabin filters every 12,000 to 15,000 miles or once a year in order to ensure good air quality for you and your passengers.

"A clean cabin filter is essential to maintaining good air quality in your vehicle," says Rob Backode, senior product manager for automotive filters for Robert Bosch Corporation, one of the world's largest suppliers of automotive parts and systems. "Your vehicle's cabin filter serves the same purpose as your furnace filter in your home. Cabin filters trap a wide range of irritating and harmful particulates, and by preventing particulate from pollen, dust, smoke and other outdoor sources from entering and contaminating the interior air space of your vehicle, cabin filters assure cleaner, fresher air for you and your passengers."

Clean cabin filters also serve to protect the HVAC system's downstream components, such as the blower motor. Yet as much as 85 percent of all original equipment cabin filters in service today have never been replaced.

Replacing a cabin filter yourself can be accomplished in as little as five minutes. "Changing the cabin filter is as easy as changing the furnace filter in your home," says Backode. Cabin filters are generally located under the vehicle's hood, inside the glove compartment or under the dashboard, and most are within easy reach for quick replacement.

The next time you slide behind the wheel of your vehicle, think of all the hours you spend driving with the windows rolled up. Then think about the air you're breathing, and remember: You can be breathing a whole lot easier simply by replacing the cabin filter.

Synthetic Oils Boost a Car's Performance

In recent years, there has been a steady rise in the use of synthetic motor oils because of their superior performance benefits. Just about everyone can benefit from them because they help your car's engine function better in so many ways. In addition to lubricating and cooling engine parts, motor oil promotes easy starting, protects the engine from corrosion and oxidation, keeps the engine clean, forms a tight seal between piston rings and cylinder walls and helps the engine use fuel efficiently.

Learn about how you can benefit from synthetic motor oils and lubricants with this information, courtesy of AM-SOIL INC., a manufacturer of the first synthetic motor oil for automobiles in 1972.

Q: What is the difference between conventional and synthetic motor oil?

A: Conventional lubricants are refined from crude oil, which consists of thousands of types of molecules, which each have a different set of physical properties. In contrast, synthetic oils are made by reacting specific chemicals with a catalyst. The outcome is a fluid with exceptional molecular uniformity, resulting in improved properties and performance as compared to its petroleum counterpart. Because of this uniformity, synthetic oils excel in reducing friction and wear, offer improved fuel economy and function in both high and low temperature extremes, far beyond conventional oils.

Q: My friend says synthetic oils are better for the environment. I say that improperly disposed, synthetic oils aren't really any better. Who's right?

A: You are both right. The environmental benefits of synthetic lubricants are most apparent when you consider their extended drain capabilities. Synthetic compressor oils last eight times longer than their petroleum counterparts. This means eight times less waste oil to dispose of. Synthetic motor oils for cars and light trucks have drain recommendations of two to 10 times conventional petroleum depending on the product and the manufacturer. Fewer oil changes means less waste oil as well as less container waste disposal. However, synthetic motor oils require the same disposal care as traditional petroleum motor oils.

Q: I know synthetic motor oil is better in winter cold, but how do they benefit people who live in hot weather climates like in Arizona or South Texas?

A: Oil volatility is the measure of how susceptible an oil is to boil-off under high heat conditions. Most petroleum oils experience significant boil-off during high temperature engine operation and are expelled into the environment. The thicker oil left behind contributes to damaging deposits, sticky piston rings and oil blow-by, all contributing to reduced life and drag on performance. Synthetic oils are more impervious to this kind of degradation. The lower volatility of synthetics is another reason they are better for the environment than conventional products.

Q: Are there any advantages to conventional petroleum oils?

A: Petroleum-based motor oils have an initial price advantage over synthetics. In advancing the cost issue, remember that even the most expensive motor oil is cheaper than engine repairs caused by inadequate metal to metal protection or general lubricant failure. Synthetics have been proven to give superior year-round protection and performance. When motorists evaluate their lubricant costs on a per year or per mile basis, rather than on the basis of cost per oil change, synthetic motor oils with extended drain intervals are found to cost less than conventional motor oils.

Q: Will synthetic motor oils void my warranty?

A: No. Manufacturers call for API SL-rated motor oil of specific viscosity grades and usually do not distinguish between conventional or synthetic lubricants. Some high-performance cars, like the Chevrolet Corvette, are filled with synthetic motor oil and carry recommendations for synthetics.

Q: Is there such a thing as synthetic greases?

A: Not only are there synthetic greases, but synthetic gear lubes, fluids and two cycle have seen increased use throughout the industry by using synthetic drivetrain.

Synthetics lubricants also can be used in the drivetrain of your tow truck. Pulling cars off the track put extra stress on transmission, leum tranny fluid more quickly under conditions. Synthetic mission fluids last times longer than conventional counte-
